U. S. BOMBS GERMANY

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—United States heavy bombers, Flying Fortresses and Liberators, attacked naval installations in Germany today, it was authoritatively announced.

It was the United States Army Air Force's first attack on the German homeland. It was believed that German U-boat centers particularly were chosen for the attack.

BLACK SEA 'DUNKIRK' NEAR

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Morocco radio reported today Turkish sources said all Axis ships in Turkish and Bulgarian ports had been ordered to proceed to Novorossisk. This Caucasian port on the Black Sea is the largest from which the Germans could effect a withdrawal of troops from the northwest Caucasus to the Crimea if land escape through Rostov were cut off.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (INS)—The White House today declared that the complete story of the African conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill has not been told. Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said:

"So far as it can be told at the present time the story is complete. Subsequent chapters undoubtedly will be written as events unfold."

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Jan. 27 (AP)—A master war plan for 1943 aimed at forcing the unconditional surrender of Germany, Japan and Italy has been mapped in a historic 10-day conference among President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and a score of top-flight military and supply leaders, and today the Allied heads had separated to put their global strategy "into active and concerted execution."

President Roosevelt, breaking more traditions, flew 5000 miles for the meeting that began Jan. 14 and ended last Sunday with a press conference on the sunny lawn of a villa in Casablanca's outskirts near the Atlantic breakers through which American troops stormed ashore last November.

Churchill also flew to the rendezvous which found Gen. Charles De Gaulle, Fighting French leader, and Gen. Henri Giraud, French North African high commissioner, getting together for negotiations to put a French army, navy and air force into the field for powerful blows against the Axis.

Working day and night, the President and the Prime Minister were attended by virtually the entire war staffs of both nations, including all service heads, and they reached "complete agreement" on their objectives, it was announced.

Premier Joseph Stalin of Russia and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China were kept advised of the progress and results of the conference, which outwitted Nazi spies based in adjacent Spanish Morocco.

The presence of such a galaxy of American and British leaders, both strategists and field commanders, indicated that not only European invasion courses had been charted, but that field commanders had been decided upon for impending operations. Those who will command and where they will strike probably will remain military secrets for some time.

President Roosevelt took time out from the deliberations to award decorations to U. S. troops, ride a jeep to review troops in the field and eat Army rations of ham and beans.

The timing of the meeting was particularly fortunate from an Allied standpoint, with German troops reeling in Soviet Russia and Africa, with Italy having just been stripped of its last symbol of African empire and with Japan being smashed in New Guinea.

Here are the highlights of the conference which Roosevelt and Churchill, in a Sunday summary, agreed was unprecedented and will affect the course of the war:

ONE—Military and civil leaders of both nations agreed on a 1943 plan designed to retain the initiative in every war theater.

TWO—Roosevelt and Churchill, perhaps in anticipation of Axis peace feelers, agreed that peace can come only through unconditional surrender of the three major Axis partners.

THREE—Generals Giraud and De Gaulle met for the first time under sponsorship of the President and Prime Minister to negotiate for an effective union of their two forces.

FOUR—Stalin was kept informed. Churchill and Roosevelt disclosed they had offered to meet the Russian leader—whose armies have dealt such prodigious blows to the Germans—at a point "very much further to the East." But it was pointed out that because of the big Red Army winter offensive Stalin was unable to leave the country. The two Allied leaders also communicated with Chiang Kai-Shek and "have apprised him of the measures which they are taking to assist him in China's magnificent and unrelaxing struggle for the common cause."

FIVE—Maximum material aid to Russia and China will be one of the prime aims of the U. S. and Britain.

The conferences were held at a small hotel in Casablanca's suburbs.

Yanks Beat Nazis in Mud

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 27—Allied offensives squeezed the Axis from both sides of the Tunisian front today.

Communiques reported United States forces cracking through German defenses in the Ousseltia valley sector and the British Eighth Army fighting its way steadily toward the Tunisian border from Tripoli against Marshal Rommel's battered rear guard.

The Americans announced the capture of prisoners and places of tactical importance covering the important mountain pass between Kairouan and Ousseltia. They rolled the Nazis back through the rain-mired central Tunisian battlefront from positions wrested last week from the French.

CONSOLIDATE POSITIONS

"These positions are being consolidated," an Allied spokesman said at the North African headquarters.

The British from Cairo announced that "yesterday our troops were in contact with the enemy rear guards west of Zauia," which is 30 miles west of Tripoli. The Tunisian frontier is some 70 miles west of Zauia.

The British communique said Allied fighters kept retreating Axis transport columns under attack in the vicinity of Zuara, halfway between Zauia and the border.

BOMB SICILY AGAIN

B-24 Liberators of the U. S. Army's Ninth Air Force carried the war again to Sicily yesterday, bombing Messina, just across the narrow strait from the toe of Italy.

A report that Marshal Rommel's men had managed to gain contact with the Tunisian Axis forces of Gen. Jurgen von Arnim was broadcast by the German-controlled Paris radio last night.

GIRAUD, DEGAULLE HOLD 2-DAY PARLEY

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 27 (AP)—Two warriors whose ardent objectives are to fight the Axis, liberate France and free the remainder of the German-dominated world have faced each other across a council table and all they had to show today was a communique which told how they felt about it.

The one was Gen. Henri Giraud, the politics-hating North African high commissioner.

The other was Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of the fighting French.

Their meeting, long delayed, was pushed into being by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

For two days the two generals talked. At the end they issued an official communique which said:

"We have met. We have talked. We have registered entire agreement on the end to be achieved, which is the liberation of France and the triumph of human liberties by the total defeat of the enemy.

"This end will be attained by union in war of all free Frenchmen fighting side by side with all Allies."

In London, the French National Committee met with Gen. De Gaulle on his return and then announced that "exchanges of views" would be continued.

The two generals, it was understood, would exchange ambassadors, with Gen. Georges Catroux, the conqueror of Syria, as De Gaulle's representative.

Nazis to Mobilize Boys of 15 to 19

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Italian newspaper Corriere Della Sera at Milan reported today Nazi authorities will mobilize all boys from 15 to 19 years old.

The correspondent said the boys will be assigned tasks of secondary importance to release older soldiers for combat service.

Germany and Italy Slated for Knockout First, Then Japanese

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—A supreme strategy of victory calling for the defeat of Italy and Germany first and Japan second and providing for a general European offensive as soon as possible after conclusion of the African campaign was believed in authoritative quarters today to have been agreed upon by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

This would amount in effect to an affirmation of plans already in process of execution, it was said, but would mean additionally that the leaders of the two great Allied western powers also had made at least a rough allocation of their resources among the three main theaters of war—the Atlantic-European, Russian and Pacific-Asiatic.

The actual application of this strategy was believed to have been left up to the combined chiefs of staff of British and American forces. Their decisions would be made, if they have not in some instances been made already, on such questions as the organization and launching of an aerial offensive against Nazi Europe from Africa as well as from England, and when and where to invade the continent with ground troops.

International News Service Washington correspondent Kingsbury Smith reported today that definite plans for the opening of a full-scale Allied invasion of the continent late this spring or early in the summer are believed to have been drafted by Roosevelt and Churchill.

Smith added the United States and Great Britain promised Russia last year they would attempt to open a major front against Germany in Europe this spring.

Whether the "big push" will be made through western Europe or in the Mediterranean area remains a military secret, according to the INS reporter. But informed diplomatic sources

NAZIS AT STALINGRAD WHITTLED TO 12,000

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—A Soviet ukase of doom lay today on 12,000 German troops caught in two pockets in front of Stalingrad, the starving, freezing remnants of Hitler's armies once numbered at 220,000 men who were surrounded and then slashed to bits by the Red Army.

A time limit for their extinction was set by the Russians in a special communique—two to three days.

"The history of wars has never known the encirclement and annihilation of such large numbers of regular troops saturated to the limit with modern military equipment," the Russians set forth in the war bulletin, as recorded by the Soviet radio monitor.

"We have not yet liquidated two small groups separated and isolated from each other, totalling no more than 12,000 men, one to the north of Stalingrad and the other nearer the central part of the town. Both groups are doomed and their liquidation is only a question of two to three days.

The Russians listed 40,000 of the force killed since its leaders declined to surrender Jan. 10 and said 28,000 had been taken prisoner.

The Russians said their offensives continued on a 450-mile front from Voronezh on the upper Don river to Armavir in the upper Caucasus.

Reserve forces, bolstered by tanks, are being massed by the Germans on the approaches to Rostov, the Russians reported.

The bulletin told of the capture of more towns in the Caucasus, including one large populated place where the German defense in depth was reported broken by the Red Army besiegers.

The success claimed by the Russians also marked the resumption of uninterrupted Russian use of three railroads out of Stalingrad—the lines to Salsk, Tatsinskaya, and Povorina.

Willkie Finds Parley Lacking

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie expressed disappointment last night that Russia's and China's leaders were absent from the North African conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and that creation of a grand military strategy board was not announced.

"Maybe the rumors of the grand strategy board will become real. Perhaps the French collaborators were reduced in status and the men who have risked their lives for freedom have at last come into their own in North Africa. Anyway we will hope that such is the case," he said.

Declaring that "one cannot repress a feeling of disappointment," Willkie said "we have been led to believe that great events were shaping. We had hoped that Mr. Stalin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek might be in attendance; that the four leaders were to sit together."

Nazis Still Gloomy, But Sneer at F. D.

By LOWELL BENNETT

LONDON, Jan. 27 (INS)—German propagandists today hinted further bad news could be expected from Russia but sought to minimize the Roosevelt-Churchill conferene. One German broadcast branded the meeting as a "Hollywood powwow."

The Nazi-operated Oslo radio apologized for Nazi reverses in Russia by pointing out the immense help being sent the Soviets by Britain and America.

Berlin commentators are hinting the end of Hitler's Stalingrad sixth army is near and are urging the German people to be courageous.

"These two political jackanapes," the German radio said in referring to Roosevelt and Churchill, "have chosen to stage a fourth-rate Hollywood bigwig powwow on the romantic shores of Africa.

"Stalin told the pair he has more important things to do than play political tiddlewinks with gadabout statesmen who compose Atlantic charters and communiques."

FALLING MERCURY REVIVES FUEL SHORTAGE WORRIES

Slipping downward during the night, the mercury went well below the freezing mark today and caused fresh concern over the Massachusetts fuel shortage, particularly for those householders who have exhausted their No. 3 ration coupons.

Since the Period 4 coupons do not become effective until Monday, an estimated 50,000 householders were said to be facing the prospect of empty tanks over the coming week-end in case the cold grows more intense.

U. S. weather bureau forecasts said the temperature will remain below freezing all day and "much colder" than Tuesday.

Mayor Joseph J. Sweeney of Lowell reported a range oil crisis in his city, with but a single day's supply left. He sought help at the State House and at the same time directed Lowell civilian defense officials to prepare for handling numerous family evacuations.

Ebbing bunker or heavy oil supplies threaten to close 130 Rhode Island schools. Dr. James F. Rockett, director of the state's education department, appealed to Washington not to allow the schools to be shut down for lack of heat while barrooms, night clubs and similar entertainment spots remain open and heated.

With Rhode Island in the grip of a critical industrial oil shortage which already has resulted in the closing of one textile mill and partial closing of two others, Dr. Rockett pleaded that the state's schools be exempted from the recent OPA order slashing non-residential oil rations 45 per cent.

Miss Hammond Firing 'Due for Public Airing

The stage appeared to be set today for a public airing of the controversy over the removal of Natalie Hays Hammond as commandant of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps.

Belief was expressed in State House circles that opportunity for an expression of views in the Hammond case probably will come Tuesday, when the legislative committee on military affairs and public safety holds an open meeting on a bill, filed by Eugene L. Belisle of Boston, which seeks to develop a new plan of regional administration for the state committee on public safety.

The hearing was announced shortly after Reps. Enrico Cappucci and Fred A. Blake had introduced an order calling for an investigation of the committee on public safety, with special emphasis on the Women's Defense Corps.

Sen. Ralph V. Clampit of Springfield, meanwhile announced he had received a letter from Capt. Ethel M. Sweeney of the Wellesley-Newton unit of the corps, demanding an investigation of the "shabby" treatment given Miss Hammond.

Girl Truant, 14, Dying in Leap After Scolding

How a 14-year-old high school girl, reprimanded by her mother for skipping school, plunged 35 feet from the attic window of her home and sustained critical injuries was revealed by East Boston police today.

The victim was identified as Philomena Buonopane, sophomore at Girls' Trade School. She made her leap—which may result in her death—despite a struggle by her younger sister to prevent the plunge.

Police said Philomena had been absent from school 10 days and her mother, Mrs. Nancy Buonopane, scolded her.

The younger sister, Mary, 12, raced up the stairs after Philomena, and the two screaming girls battled at an open window. Philomena fought free and tried to jump, police report, but even then Mary clung to one of her legs.

But her strength gave out and Philomena slipped from her grasp, dropping two and one-half stories to the frozen ground, 35 feet below.

Rushed to City Hospital, she was found to be suffering from a fractured skull, concussion and a severe scalp laceration. Her name was placed on the danger list.

PROBE RACKET IN BEEF SALES

Hinting "big shot" racketeers were operating the New England black market in beef, OPA officials today said they were nearing the end of their extensive probe of the illegal meat packing industry called by some the "worst in the country."

Th secrecy was explained by the statement previous probes were frustrated when alleged violators took cover after being "tipped" on the investigation's progress.

The probers have been aided by victims who complained being forced to accetp short weight deliveries and violate meat ceiling prices.

A Boston meat packer told investigators the black market was so well organized only a racket gang could operate it.

DIDN'T WATCH ACTOR—Elaine Patterson, passenger on the yacht cruise on which Peggy Satterlee claims she was attacked by Flynn, said she wasn't watching Flynn all the time on being quizzed by the state. Earlier she had testified that she did not see Peggy and Flynn go below deck.

Included in the number were three defendants, indicted secretly by the Suffolk County grand jury, and four new defendants named after their arrests.

These four were Mrs. Eleanor Corum McGee, 38, of Washington st., South End; Joseph Cohen, 42, of Maple st., Roxbury; Ralph Wallace, 50, of Stanwood st., Roxbury, and Walter Slade, 34, of Pickett st., South Weymouth.

Dropped from the original group arrested in the state police raids was David Belinski, 65, partly blind alleged number pool agent. The grand jury refused to return an indictment against him.

All pleaded not guilty to the lottery charges and all were held for trial, date to be announced later.

ANSWER TO INDICTMENTS

The defendants had been prepared to appear in lower court on the continuance, when they were informed by counsel that there would be superior court arraignments instead.

Counsel and clients went upstairs then to the session of Judge Donahue to answer the 140 indictments.

They included Sagansky, Nathan Goodsnyder, Sally Goodsnyder, Joseph Palladino, Maurice Helman, Max Rudkin, Guy Cirrito, Louis Hodess, Edward Hotze, Dominic Palladino, Lee Goldblatt, Joseph Synder, Joseph H. Stepner, John Cavagnaro, Louis Popkin, John Benelli, Peter Kelly, Jennie Rubenstein, Irving Rosen, George A. Bailey, Isaac Spiegel, Nathan Auberg, and the four new defendants.

Attracting most attention in the group was Miss Cremins, whose turnabout and refusal to testify before the grand jury had resulted in her being taken int ocustody and held over night, or from 2:10 this morning.

Her refusal surprised the prosecution and resulted in their placing against her the charge of being concerned in a fictitious lottery, a felony count.

Described by the prosecution as a bookkeeper for Sagansky, she was considered a valuable witness for the state and, as such, had been shown special courtesies by the attorney-general's office. These courtesies, however, were dispensed with today.

HELD IN $5000

Instead of the nominal bail of $100 which had been set on her at the time of the raids, the amount today was fixed at $5000.

The 140 indictments were returned in record time by the grand jury, but the speed was overshadowed by Miss Cremins' surprising change of heart.

She conferred briefly with Asst. Atty.-Gen. Volpe and then hurried away, shielding her face with a newspaper and handbag.

ERROL FLYNN READY TO TELL JURY STORY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27 (AP)—Today was the day the courtroom-and-corridor-crowding cluster of Errol Flynn film fans have been waiting for—the debonair star himself was scheduled to take the witness stand at his trial on statutory rape charges.

Defense Atty. Jerry Giesler said he had "several other witnesses, but Flynn probably will go on the stand in the afternoon."

Eight persons testified at the second day of the defense yesterday. The star performer was suave, mustached Fred James Aloysius McEvoy, oil man and part-time actor, who declared that at no time during the party in his fashionable Bel-Air home last Sept. 27 did Flynn go upstairs.

Betty Hansen, 17, of Lincoln, Neb., has testified that after dinner the screen actor took her upstairs to a bedroom, the "blue room," disrobed her and was intimate with her.

But McEvoy told the Superior Court jury of nine women and three men that during this time he and Flynn were on a sun porch drinking frappes.

He said he did not see the actor kiss Miss Hansen or see any demonstration of affection between them.

Miss Jean Longworth, 18, blonde Hollywood night club entertainer, testified she knew Peggy La Rue Satterlee, 16, the other complaining witness, who alleges Flynn was twice intimate with her aboard his yacht during a cruise to Catalina in August, 1941.

Defense Atty. Jerry Geisler asked Miss Longworth:

"Did you once see Peggy Satterlee at the night club, and did she say: 'My mother once took me to court claiming he had raped me, but I did not want her to, because it was not true'?"

"Yes," said the attractive witness.

After the conclusion of his visit to Washington Churchill will proceed to Moscow."

THORNDIKE SUICIDE IN N. Y; DAD DIED OF GUNSHOT HERE

Nearly nine years ago John R. Thorndike, son of the late John L. Thorndike, prominent Boston attorney, accidentally shot himself at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

Today his son by a second marriage, John Grosvenor Thorndike, 23, was found shot to death in the New York apartment of his mother—but police pronounced him a suicide.

Except that they said he had been in ill health, police ascribed no motive.

Young Thorndike was married in 1941 to Estelle van Vechten Randolph of Dillon, S. C., and Milford, Ct.

New York police were summoned to the Park ave. apartment at 3 a. m. today by members of young Thorndike's family, who reported he had locked himself in the study.

Before they arrived, however, the youth had shot himself with a .22 cal. rifle, as his young wife pounded on the study door, imploring him to let her in.

As the shot which ended his life rang out, Thorndike's 5-weeks-old child slept in an adjoining room of the apartment.

When police finally broke the door open they found the body of the youthful father slumped near a bookcase.

The family said Thorndike recently had been an aviation student and an amateur etymologist.

May 29, 1934, his father, John R. Thorndike, 52, graduate of Harvard in 1904, was fatally shot in the home of Mrs. Robert Stoops in School st., Manchester, where he had lived several years.

The father's first wife was Lucia Adele Barry of New York, who died soon after the birth of a son, Henry Greenough Thorndike of Manchester.

In 1921, he was married to Caroline Lydia Wyeth, daughter of Mrs. Stephen G. Williams of New York city. The son who shot himself today was the son of that second marriage.

5 CANS PER PERSON ALLOWED ON HAND AT RATIONING START

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration has established a limit of five cans per person as the amount of canned vegetables and fruits which householders may possess, without penalty, when rationing of canned goods begins in about four weeks.

This represented a drastic reduction under tentative plans to allow between eight and ten cans per person.

When rationing begins, persons having more than the allowable limit will have coupons torn out of their canned goods ration book.

This will be done at a rate of one 8-point coupon for each can above five per person.

In counting the cans, OPA said it will not include cans containing less than eight ounces (this excludes primarily small cans of baby food).

The five-can limitation means five cans only—it does not mean that a person may have without penalty, five cans of one sort of vegetables, five cans of another and five cans of grapefruit juice, for example.

CHILE INTERNS 242 AXIS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Chilean government has ordered 168 Germans and 74 Japanese suspected of espionage and propagandist activities sent to designated towns as a "preventive" measure following Chile's break with the Axis.

MOST CONGRESSMEN PRAISE PARLEY, SOME ARE CRITICAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Highly praised in most quarters, belittled in some, the Casablanca meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill drew from official Washington today wide differences of opinion.

While some congressmen read into last night's announcement of the meeting a settlement of North African political differences, others, such as Senator Nye expressed disappointment that a United French front was not "announced as a fact."

There was marked approval, too, for the declaration from the leaders of the two nations that "complete agreement" had been reached on 1943 war plans designed to bring about "unconditional surrender" of the Axis.

SEE BENEFITS

By and large, the historic session brought acclamation for its "daring," "inspiring," "stimulating," "encouraging," and "thrilling" objectives.

A few congressmen tempered approval with expressions of regret that China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Russia's Premier Stalin were not present.

Secretary of State Hull described the decisions as "most wise and timely" and "of the most far-reaching importance."

Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, declared "Casablanca speaks for itself, and the Axis will learn what it means through 1943."

WHEELER CRITICAL

Sen. Wheeler, a frequent critic of the Roosevelt foreign policy, observed that "of course it was a very spectacular thing for the President to do, but there was nothing new in the press release given out that wasn't already known to the American people."

Other comments: Chairman May of the House military committee: "Straightening out of the dangerous political situation in North Africa is a major victory for the United Nations."

House Minority Leader Martin: "It inspires confidence that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill are determined upon 'unconditional surrender' by the enemy."

Speaker Sam Rayburn: "We haven't been told a great deal and we did not expect to be, because it might have revealed military secrets. One of the fine things was the announcement that there may be unity among the Fighting Frenchmen in North Africa."

London Press Varies In Parley Reaction

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Morning newspapers here expressed widely divergent opinions on the import of the Casablanca conferences, some cautiously and with restraint, hailing them as a forerunner of a vast offensive and an earlier Allied victory, while others expressed disappointment that the conferees failed to appoint a supreme war council and that the French situation in North Africa still was obscure.

All used their biggest headlines and devoted the greater part of their four-page papers to telling the story.

"The inference to be drawn from the determined wording of the communique is that tremendous events are on the move and may break in the near future," said the Daily Mail.

The Daily Herald said "the conference certainly has fallen short of prophecies which have been coming out of Washington for a week or more.

QUESTION THE RISK

The News Chronicle said, "Inflated expectations aroused by comment in America is likely to cause a feeling of disappointment in the light of known results. People are bound to ask why it is necessary for the heads of the United States and British governments to take very real risks involved in visiting North Africa in order to discuss strategic plans for 1943. Was the political situation in North Africa so deplorable that handshakes exchanged between Giraud and DeGaulle have been sufficient to unravel the disreputable tangle of Anglo-American French relations?"

BAY STATE MEN CLEAR WAY AFTER SANANANDA CONQUEST

By WILLIAM F. BONI

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS NEAR SANANANDA, Jan. 23 delayed) (AP)—A blistering sun and the all-pervading stench of dead Japanese marked the last two miles of the road today to a 250-yard-long beach at the end of the prolonged Sananandа campaign.

It was disappointing to find Sananandа beach to be nothing more than a barren, 100-yard wide sandspit.

The trek to the beach was highlighted by visits with groups of American soldiers.

I began walking to the sea in the company of Capt. Peter Angelo, Wellesley, Mass.; Lieut. Jim Walker, Boston, and Sergt. Joe O'Connor, former fireman, of Worcester, Mass., now on duty with a portable hospital.

They were going forward in a former Jap area to inspect hospitals and see what they could find in the way of medical equipment.

For the first three-quarters of a mile, much work had been done to make the road "jeepable." Then we met a group who told of killing 16 Japs, one of them an officer, just as they were preparing that morning to try to slip through the American lines.

Farther on we were joined by Corps. Nelson Huntsman, Canton, Mass., and Norman Purinton, Lisbon Falls, Me., surgical-medical technicians for a portable hospital. But they soon drifted off into the brush along the road.

Up to this point most of the Jap bodies had been buried, but as we neared the coast, I must have passed hundreds—some killed in recent days and others mere bleached skeletons and skulls. One skull was lying alone in the grass at the roadside. A passing Australian found a Jap soldier's cap, placed it on the skull and remarked, "Now the sun won't bother him so much."

Behind the shelter of a shrub, with a rifle trained on the road, sat Pvt. James Hathcok, Lucedale, Miss. He and Pvt. Gordon Joyner, Peoria, Ill., were alternating on guard duty for one of the companies. Each had killed a Jap during the night from his guard post, firing at shadowy figures in the moonlight.

These Japs didn't bear out the stories I had heard of starvation or resemble prisoners I had seen wearing rags. They were well fed and had ample rations of rice and dried fish. They were wearing brand new uniforms.

CHIKA WANTS PACIFIC BLOW

By JAMES D. WHITE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Chinese have pretty definite ideas of how to use the "full measure of help" promised by President Roosevelt after his unprecedented conference with Prime Minister Churchill in North Africa.

It cannot arrive too soon to suit them.

They have been fighting Japan since 1937, and were the first to warn that unless the democracies acted they, too, would be attacked by Japan.

Here's how it looks from China and the Pacific theater:

Entrenched in Asia from Manchuria to Burma, Japan now operates as a continental power. She must be overcome by continental offensives.

When Prime Minister Churchill described the North African campaign as exposing the "soft underbelly of Axis Europe," the Chinese lost no time in reviving their old contention that the development and use of Chinese bases by the United Nations would lay equally bare the armored torso of the Japanese Empire.

POTENTIAL BASES

Fortunately, Japan does not occupy the entire Chinese coast, and long stretches of it are in the possession of Chinese guerrilla troops in the provinces of Kiangsu, Fukian and Kuangtung. These coastal areas, though subject to Japanese naval blockade, are potential bases for air and sea attack against Japan.

"Give us the weapons," the Chinese have long pleaded, "and with our millions of men and years of experience fighting the Japanese we will drive them into the sea."

To the Chinese, that "full measure of help" will mean first of all the recapture of Burma and the reopening of the Burma supply road.

MacARTHUR GIVES HOPE

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, speaking out of his experience with the Japanese in the Philippines and in New Guinea, may have had this in mind when he spoke recently of the possibility of massive coordinated air and land attacks rather than the slower "island by island" theory of reconquest.

U. S. Press Kept Secrecy On F. D.'s Historic Trip

President Roosevelt's trip was another war secret well kept by the American press under the code of voluntary censorship.

The safety of the President, the success of his mission, were the issues involved—great issues upon which the whole course of the war might conceivably depend.

That the President was on an important mission was known to every newspaper editor in the country 17 days ago.

MEMORANDUM ISSUED

So the press would know that Roosevelt was on the move—and be reminded that this was confidential—Byron Price, director of censorship, issued at 11 p. m., Jan. 9, the following memorandum:

"Note to editors and broadcasters—strictly confidential and not for publication.

"The President is taking another trip. The attention of every editor and broadcaster is directed forcefully to the code provision restricting any information regarding the movements of the Commander-in-Chief and any other ranking officials of the government. Upon his return detailed news of his trip will be made available to all simultaneously."

The press of America had its heart in its mouth when the Nazis threw that daylight raid at London while the President was "taking another trip." They experienced the same sensation when the big U. S. transport plane crashed in Dutch Guinea, taking the lives of high operatives of the FBI, Maj. Eric Knight, the novelist, and many others.

ABSENCE NOTED

In the days that followed there were many indications of Roosevelt's absence from the capital, such as the cancellation of his semi-weekly press conferences and his weekly conferences with congressional leaders. But this was not published.

From London at the same time came indications of Prime Minister Churchill's absence from his capital, along with dispatches that he was likely to confer soon with Roosevelt. Later dispatches told of far-reaching Allied war councils under way, but without specifying that President and Prime Minister then were conferring.

Putting two and two together, editors could be certain that a Roosevelt-Churchill parley was under way. But the news was not published.

On Monday afternoon full details of the President's successful flight were transmitted to newspaper editorial rooms to be held for release at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. There was a general sigh of relief that the President was safe. But the news still had to be kept secret.

Ration Banking

BEGINNING TODAY, this Bank and all commercial banks in America are undertaking still another wartime service to aid our country. Called Ration Banking, it is a vital part of the nation-wide rationing program.

Facts You Should Know

1. It has nothing whatever to do with your bank account.

2. It does not directly apply to you as a consumer.

3. It is purely a relationship between merchants and commercial banks. Ration Banking begins only after you have used your stamps and coupons to purchase rationed commodities.

4. The banks' job is mainly of an accounting nature—acting as an agent of the Office of Price Administration under carefully defined regulations.

5. It in no way affects how much or how little of rationed commodities you as a consumer receive. Banks do not issue ration stamps or coupons, nor do they have anything to do with the actual rationing of commodities.

6. It will relieve local ration boards of the tremendous burden of handling, verifying and controlling all used coupons and stamps.

We are proud to be enlisted in Ration Banking, adding it to the many wartime services we are performing for the government.

F. D., CHURCHILL SPEED PLAN TO SMASH AXIS IN '43

urbs under the greatest secrecy. Those participating engaged a cluster of nearby villas for living quarters and the area was guarded heavily by U. S. troops and was surrounded by barbed wire.

Churchill flew from Britain in an American four-motored Liberator bomber, the same aircraft he used for his August trip to Cairo and Moscow. Capt. William Vanderkloot of Sarasota, Fla., and the same crewmen of the previous flight, again were recruited.

Aside from the fact that he flew across the Atlantic, details of the President's trip still have not been disclosed.

Churchill arrived first. When the President landed he dispatched Harry Hopkins, chairman of the British-American munitions assignment board, to Churchill's villa, and the Prime Minister returned with him to begin the talks.

The first one began at 7 P. M. the night of Jan. 14 and lasted until 3 a. m. the next day. Military bigwigs participated, as did the field commanders of both nations charged with smashing the Axis-held strip of Tunisia preparatory to opening a possible second front on the underside of Europe.

President Roosevelt received correspondents in the red-flowered garden of his villa Sunday afternoon while American fighters and RAF Spitfires hummed overhead protectingly.

The only woman present was WAAC Capt. Louise Anderson of Denver, a stenographer from Lieut.-Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters.

First to arrive was Hopkins and the President's son, Lieut.-Col. Elliott Roosevelt, who is stationed in Africa.

FRENCH APPEAR

Then Generals De Gaulle and Giraud appeared from the President's quarters, followed by Roosevelt himself, clad in a light gray suit and with the usual cigarette holder. Hovering in the background was the President's envoy to North Africa, Robert Murray, who did valuable contact work with the French before the Allied invasion.

Churchill, smoking a cigar and dressed in a dark gray suit, then appeared.

Gen. Giraud and De Gaulle shook hands for the benefit of the correspondents, then retired, as the conference got under way.

First Roosevelt expressed his own and Churchill's regret at the death of one correspondent, Edouard Baudry of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Baudry was struck by a machine-gun bullet over Spanish Morocco when the plane in which he was riding with other correspondents en route to the meeting lost its way temporarily. He died when the plane made an emergency landing in French Morocco.

ONLY WOMAN PRESENT—WAAC Capt. Louise Anderson of Denver, Col., a stenographer, was the only woman present at the Casablanca meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The President then explained the background of the historic meeting. It became clear, he said, when the North African campaign was launched, that he and the Prime Minister would have to meet again.

STALIN INVITED

Stalin had been cordially invited to meet the President and Prime Minister but was "unable to leave Russia at this time on account of the great offensive which he himself as commander-in-chief is directing."

Then, with Churchill nodding assent, Roosevelt said the 10-day conference had ended in "complete agreement" on 1943 plans to bring about the "unconditional surrender of the Axis. This did not mean, the President said, the destruction of the populations of Germany, Japan, and Italy, but it did mean the smashing of the philosophy of these countries based on conquest and reigns of terror.

Here Churchill interjected "Hear, hear," as if he were home attending a parliamentary session.

Allied determination to press the initiative in every part of the world was stressed. Roosevelt said a "theater by theater" survey, as the communique phrased it, had been made.

This was interpreted to mean that Allied military chieftains had mapped invasion plans and probably also picked their generals.

All the chieftains were present for the meetings—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. Army; Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the Imperial general staff; Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Navy; Admiral of the Fleet Sir Dudley Pound; Lieut.-Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the U. S. Army Air Forces; and Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal, chief of Britain's air staff.

RECALLS GEN. GRANT

In emphasizing the aim of the Allied high command, the President suggested that the entire meeting be called "the unconditional surrender" conference, and recalled that Gen. U. S. Grant had borne that nickname after defeating the Confederate armies.

One of the main decisions was to lend all possible material aid to the Russians who are sapping German manpower and war materials, the President said. He added that China was to get a full measure to help end forever the Japanese attempt to dominate the Far East.

The official communique of the meeting which today is being broadcast in a score of languages throughout the world, also called attention to Russia's great fight. It said:

"The President and Prime Minister realized up to the full the enormous weight of the war which Russia is successfully bearing along her whole land front, and their prime object has been to draw as much weight as possible off the Russian armies by engaging the enemy as heavily as possible at the best selected points. Premier Stalin has been fully informed of the military proposals."

"The best selected points" at which to strike the Axis was not elaborated upon, but the President said all the resources of the United Nations had been pooled and would be administered by a central plan determined at the conference.

This was borne out by the personnel at the meeting. Aside from the supreme commanders, these men, including heads of the all-important supply services, were either in steady attendance or visited the roundtables.

Churchill described the conference here as the most important and successful war parley he ever had attended and asserted the results would be seen soon.

He said the Allied landings in North Africa had altered the entire strategy of the war, and said the Allies now had an initiative they never would relinquish.

Both Allied leaders repeated the communique describing the "opportune" meeting between the French generals De Gaulle and Giraud.

GIFT TO PRESIDENT

The French generals themselves issued a terse joint communique which said:

"We have met. We have talked. We have registered entire agreement on the end to be achieved, which is the liberation of France and the triumph of human liberties by the total defeat of the enemy. This end will be attained by union in war of all free Frenchmen fighting side by side with all Allies."

(Dispatches from Allied headquarters in North Africa, however, said it was going to be a long, laborious job to get these two French leaders into an effective union.)

During his stay here the President visited Port Lyautey, 100 miles north of here, where some of the heaviest fighting occurred in November, and placed wreaths on the graves of American soldiers.

"I've seen the bulk of several divisions," he said in telling of his visit to the troops in the field—the first President to make such a trip since Abraham Lincoln. "I have eaten lunch in the field and it was a darn good lunch, too."

The President was given a mess kit and served a typical infantry field lunch of ham, green beans, sweet potatoes, coffee, bread and butter, and strawberry preserves.

Those who made the trip told of the soldiers' astonishment and delight when the President, riding in a jeep and wearing a gray felt hat and white pullover sweater, rode past them. The troops were lined up for at least a mile in front of their tanks, half-tracks, scout cars and artillery of all sizes.

"They had a band at one place I visited which played for lunch," said the President. "It was a good band, but I had to move up wind so I could hear it.

"Our soldiers are eager to carry on the fight, and I want you to tell the folks back home that I am proud of them."

The President said he had given a dinner for the Sultan of Morocco and his son, getting along extremely well with both, and concluded by saying that America was determined to aid French civilians in North Africa with food and clothing until they could recover from the stripping done by the Axis.

Collecting the signatures of all those attending the conference President Roosevelt displayed what probably is one of the rarest autograph books in the world. He said he would send it to the government museum at Hyde Park, N. Y.

2 NAZI BIGWIGS IN BALKANS

By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 27 (AP)—Hitler is reported here to have sent two trusted aides—Gen. Von Mannstein and Col-Gen. Baron Maximilian von Weichs—into the Balkans, apparently to organize defenses against the possible opening of a front in southeastern Europe.

Mannstein commanded the German forces which reduced Sevastopol, but the Russians defeated his troops in the final stages of the Stalingrad offensive.

Von Weichs was one of the leaders in the battles of Bryansk and Vyazma on the Moscow front in 1941.

Since the rout of Rommel in Libya and the Allied landings in French North Africa, the Germans have shown nervousness about the Balkans

Swedish military correspondents lately have pointed out if the Axis had to abandon part of the Ukraine, the place the Germans would have to watch closely would be the Balkins.

ROOSEVELT . . . WORLD TRAVELER—President Roosevelt's trip to North Africa to map next moves of war with Churchill recalls his other precedent-shattering travels as President . . . to Bahamas and Nassau and then to Hawaii in 1934; to Bahamas and off Lower California along Mexican coast in 1935; to Quebec, Brazil, Argentina, and Uruguay in 1936; to Canal Zone and South Atlantic in 1938; to Halifax and Caribbean in 1939; to Canal Zone in 1940; to meeting with Churchill in mid-Atlantic, off Iceland, in 1941, and 8754 mile tour of United States war plants in 1942.

believe the major invasion attempt will be accompanied by powerful thrusts at several different points on the European continent.

In some quarters, Smith said, the view was expressed the main Allied attack will come in an "entirely unexpected quarter" and much sooner than the enemy suspects.

All that was actually and concretely known here about the military aspects of the historic 10-day meeting between Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill was what was announced late last night in dispatches from Casablanca based on a press conference with the two United Nations chiefs themselves.

These facts principally were that plans had been agreed upon to maintain the initiative in all theaters in 1943; that the war would never be completed short of an unconditional surrender by Germany, Italy and Japan; that Russia and China would receive the maximum amount of supplies possible; that Free French leaders, Generals Henri Giraud and Charles De Gaulle, have undertaken a movement to put a French army, navy and air force into action.

The assurance that the initiative would be maintained in all theaters was interpreted here as meaning that there would be no denial of necessary troops and supplies for the war against Japan in order to concentrate on Europe. Australia and China particularly have indicated a fear that preoccupation with Germany might allow Japan a relatively free hand in the Pacific.

The American high command is known to have held the view all along, however, that no matter how great the need or opportunity for action in the European theater there could never be the slightest relaxation of pressure in the Pacific, even though victory in Europe was the United Nations' first objective in 1943.

To gain this victory would be a long step toward concluding the Pacific conflict, since it would permit concentration of American and British naval and air forces in the Pacific and throw the whole military powers of those nations against Nippon. Should Russia then enter the fight also, air bases would became available from which Japan might rapidly be brought to heel.

In the European theater, as military men here evaluated the situation, the primary need is to overcome all Axis resistance in North Africa.

With the expulsion of the Axis, the African Mediterranean coast would become over its length a secure base from which to attack Nazi Europe by air, and, what is considered more immediately important, particularly for Russia, it would be possible to reopen the Mediterranean to Allied shipping

In the war on German submarines in the Atlantic—which at present is so costly that it must have caused Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill hours of grave discussion—opening the Mediterranean would mean that aircraft carriers, destroyers and other escort vessels would have many thousands of miles less convoy work to do.

PARLEY HITS VICTORY TIDE; ALLIES WILL RIDE TO FLOOD

By GLENN BABB

The primary significance of the Casablanca meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill is summed up in a phrase of the communique which reported it. It was intended to draw "the utmost advantage from the markedly favorable turn of events at the close of 1942," to catch the rising tide of Allied victory and good fortune and ride it to full flood.

Doubtless the immediate problems of Tunisia and the French generals occupied much of the conferees' attention, but the discussions looked far beyond North Africa.

First and last it was a military conference.

The announced results already are being criticized because of the questions left unanswered. No supreme war council for the United Nations was unveiled; the name of the Allied commander-in-chief for the invasion of Europe was not disclosed. Joseph Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek were not present, although Stalin was invited.

Stalin's chief interest, naturally and properly, is with the immediate job of expelling the Nazis from his motherland; he can hardly be expected to share fully the Anglo-Saxon leaders' concern with more distant lands and times. There still is no substantial basis for the hope that he will make Russia's war match the global scope of the conflict his Allies are waging by declaring war on Japan.

The Casablanca communique throws no new light on the burning question of aid to China.

But it should be remembered that the omissions are omissions of revelation, not necessarily of decision or action.

While the full fruits of the conference must be withheld from the United Nations until the time comes to disclose them with shattering force to Hitler and Hirohito, the very nature and setting of the Casablanca conference give firm justification for confidence that Allied leadership is in the hands of bold, far-seeing, vigorous men, civilian and military alike.

A redhead who is almost as vivid as that flaming forest fire in the Technicolor production, "Forest Rangers," has her eyes on Fred MacMurray. But leave it to Paulette Goddard to get her man. You may observe her technique on the Paramount and Fenway screens after tonight's final unreeling at the Met.

'Red Army,' Story of War at So. Station

"Red Army," story of Russia's preparation for war, is now unreeling an arresting epic of sacrifice and fortitude on the South Station Theater screen.

Others shorts on the current bill are Vaudeville Days, Steelhead Fighters, Paratroops, with interesting shots showing the soldiers of the air; a Leon Errol comedy, two sports reels, a couple of color cartoons, a Technicolor Sports Parade, showing the University of California's student contribution to the armed forces, and the latest newsreels.

'Forest Rangers' To Paramount, Fenway Screens

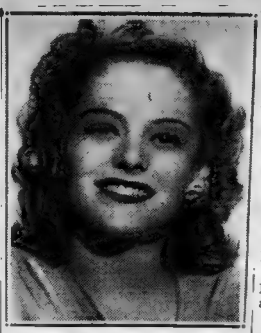
"Forest Rangers," Paramount's Technicolor dramatization of the timberline country, moves from the Met to the Paramount and Fenway screens tomorrow.

This is the flim in which Fred MacMurray cannot make up his mind between that provocative worlding, Paulette Goddard, and the flaming-haired daughter of the timberlines, Susan Hayward. There are those who are astounded that he hesitates an instant confronted with such a dish as Goddard. Countless customers are equally emphatic that the spirited Susan is the hottest thing on celluloid.

These two girls put on a "bundling" skit with the harried MacMurray that would lift the eyebrows of the pioneers in the art but which you and you and you should find the best thing in the picture.

"Forest Rangers" was directed by George Marshall from a story by Thelma Strabel, author of "Reap the Wild Wind." It glorifies the men of the U. S. Forest Service. It also turns out to be the source of that "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle" tune that has kept the juke-boxes active.

"Ice-Capades Revue," with the enttire cast of the Ice-Capades skating revue plus Jerry Colona, Vera Vague, Ellen Drew and Richard Denning, will be the companion film.



THE CAREER OF Alexis Smith, one of Hollywood's brightest young stars, took a big step forward as the result of her beguiling performance in "Gentleman Jim," the Errol Flynn-starring version of James Corbett's florid career as a heavyweight champion. On Friday, the film is due to switch from the Paramount and Fenway to the Scollay and Modern screens.

'This Rock' Seats on Sale

Seats go on sale tomorrow at the Plymouth box office for "This Rock," the new comedy starring Billie Burke which is to have its premiere Tuesday evening.

Produced and directed by Eddie Dowling, "This Rock" tells a humorous and heroic story of present day England. It is by Walter Livingston Faust.

Featured in the large cast are Nicholas Joy, Jane Sterling, Zachary Scott and Alastair Kyle.

Alexis Smith, Joan Leslie Tie in Role

The choice of an actress to play the title role in "The Life of Marilyn Miller" has narrowed down to two young Warner Bros. stars, Joan Leslie and Alexis Smith.

This coveted role was originally intended for an off-the-lot "name" but Joan's success in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and the popularity score Alexis has run up since her starring performance in "Gentleman Jim" make it a tie between them for the Broadway song-and-dance star role.

'Billie Burke' In 'This Rock'

Billie Burke, who has been one of the screen's brightest comediennes over the past 10 years, returns to her first love—the theater—Tuesday night as star for Eddie Dowling in "This Rock," new comedy by Walter Livingston Faust, at the Plymouth Theater.

Although he is an exceedingly persuasive personality, Eddie Dowling had to use little of his charms to induce Miss Burke to return to Broadway. Despite her success and creature comforts in Hollywood, Miss Burke has been yearning to return to the Great Dim Way.

During the past decade in Hollywood she has played in more than 40 films. Even with this incessant work before the grinding cameras she has found time to play behind the footlights. West Coast audiences have been more fortunate than those along the Atlantic seaboard since they have been favored with Billie Burke's luminous presence.

In Los Angeles she has played in "The Mad Hopes" and "The Vinegar Tree."

Finding herself with several free months three seasons back, Miss Burke embarked on a strenuous tour through the mid-west in "The Vinegar Tree." Her last Boston and Broadway appearance was with Ivor Novello in "The Truth Game."

Born in Washington, D. C., educated in England, it was there she first scored a stage success. For four years Miss Burke played in English musicals before returning to America to make a hit with John Drew in "My Wife" at the Empire Theater. She saw her name go up in lights as a star for the first time in "Love Watches."

Since her husband's death—he was Florenz Ziegfeld—Miss Burke has been living in Hollywood. Among some of her outstanding films can be included "Dulcy," "Irene," "Craig's Wife," "Topper," "Becky Sharpe," "A Bill of Divorcement" and "The Bride Wore Red."

Timing Vital In Kissing Art

Timing makes all the difference between the American and the Continental screen lover, according to Paul Henreid, who is of the latter school of great lovers.

"Someone like Clark Gable, for instance," he explains, in mellifluous tones, "grabs the girl and kisses her. Charles Boyer, on the other hand, pauses slightly between the grab and the kiss. He waits for a few seconds for the girl to catch up with him. The success of either technique depends upon the lady."

Henreid, happily married to a Viennese girl, "used neither the caveman nor the Continental technique to win my wife. It was simply a case of two people who have a common love. There is something mutual between them and it clicks right off. That, after all, is the best way."

Jimmy Dorsey's Band Tops RKO-Boston Bill

Arrival of Jimmy Dorsey and his slick orchestra tomorrow at the RKO Boston Theater is the occasion for street-dancing and similar evidence of glad-mad enthusiasm.

KITTY KALEN
Featured Vocalist

As you know, Dorsey now rates as the world's greatest saxaphonist. His music . . . he calls it contrasting music . . . is designed to please both swing and sweet addicts, for it is a pleasing mixture of lively and smooth rhythms.

Kitty Kallen, Buddy Schutz, Don Rice and Pops and Louis are some of the interesting personalities in the band. Miss Kallen, whose photographic likeness is an eye-massaging assurance, has succeeded Hollywood's newest signee on the dotted line, Helen O'Connell. She is reported to be as talented as she is charming. Eberly is a long-time and popular member of the Dorsey outfit. Schutz, tagged the "rapscallion of rhythm," is featured on the drums.

Rice is known as the commander-in-chief of nonsence and Pops and Louis, as comedy tapsters par excellence.

The film attraction companioning the Dorsey stage bill will be "Time to Kill," is described as a fast-moving mystery film full of wisecracks and crack shots. It is the latest in the Michael Shayne series.

PLANS UNIQUE PREMIERE

When Howard Hughes's picture, "The Outlaw," opens in San Francisco on Friday, it will be preceded by a prologue acted and spoken by flesh-and-blood actors.

'Orchestra Wives' on Beacon Bill

"Orchestra Wives," starring George Montgomery and Ann Rutherford, with Glenn Miller and his band, will be the Beacon's top film attraction for the three day starting tomorrow.

The co-feature will be "Apache Trail," an actionful Western starring Lloyd Nolan.

'In Which We Serve' Starts Boston Run Tomorrow

There are two tests which determine whether a story can be placed in the category of great art—is it universal in its appeal, and will it endure.

JOHN MILLS and KAY WALSH
"In Which We Serve"

Like Noel Coward's definition of a good ship, that it must be both efficient and happy, and that it cannot be one without the other, the same is true of art. It will not endure unless it is universal, and if it is universal, it must endure

"In Which We Serve," Coward's biography of the destroyer Torrin, which comes to Loew's State and Orpheum theaters tomorrow, has been invested with the breadth of universality by the mere fact that it draws upon every class and age in society, and upon the whole gamut of human emotions.

Its very theme is as broad as true art—not only the career of one destroyer, but its life as part of a navy of many ships, and its life as it affects the many men who share its joys and its suffering.

It's not one battle in one war that Coward portrays, but war—with its courage and its pride, as well as its wounds and its desolation. It is war, too, as man's struggle for his own freedom.

While in his heart, at the same time, is his longing and his hope for the tranquillity of his home life, the little joys of the dinner table, the happiness of his babies, and the ecstasy of love.

The many facets of life are each shown separately, yet balanced together in an arrangement like a tapestry. The effect is not only an appeal that goes to the hearts of all, but a message of inspiration to the nobler side of men and women.

Like any piece of great art, "In Which We Serve" uplifts the spirits.

CARY GRANT GINGER ROGERS
'Once Upon a Honeymoon'

5th Week of Cary-Ginger Film

"Once Upon a Honeymoon," with its four-star personalities and infectious good humor, today embarks on its fifth big week at the Keith Memorial Theater.

The Gary Grant-Ginger Rogers starring picture mixes comedy with an essentially tragic theme. It relates the amazing and hectic falling in love of an American dancer, Miss Rogers, and an American foreign correspondent, Grant, against a background of Axis aggression in Europe. The Nazi bigwig villain, a German baron, succeeds in marrying the dancer, who has been violently urged against the step by the newspaperman.

Finally, the American swings his country-woman over to his way of thinking. The two, with the baron in pursuit, dash from one end of Europe to the other and foil the Gestapo between laughs and thrills.

Also holding over is the second feature, "The Great Gildersleeve," with Harold Peary, as well as the extra added attraction, Walt Disney's "Der Fuehrer's Face."

Joan Leslie Fills Astaire Requirements

Fred Astaire has his own yardstick for dancing partners and Joan Leslie measures up to it.

That's why the two are dancing co-stars in RKO Radio's "The Sky's the Limit." It was Astaire himself who picked the 18-years-old as his dancing partner. RKO Radio agreed when it heard his reasons, negotiated the deal for borrowing her from Warners. "She's smaller than I am," Astire told the studio bosses. "She's slender. She has all the charm of youth. And she proved it in 'Sergeant York' that she can act."

"But can she dance?" asked the studio biggies anxiously.

'Ziegfeld Follies' Has Another Week

An additional week has been added to the engagement of "Ziegfeld Follies," starring Milton Berle, Ilona Massey and Arthur Treacher, at the Shubert Theater. This new and final week will begin on Monday, Feb. 15, and the engagement here, it was said yesterday, positively will terminate on Saturday, Feb. 20.

Extra Performances For 'Julius Caesar'

The Tributary Theater of Boston is scheduling several additional performances of "Julius Caesar" in its next months' calendar to take care of those who were turned away at last week's performances.

The group's production of Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" has already been announced for Feb. 12.

THIS IS WHAT F. D., CHURCHILL PLANNED IN CASABLANCA

Chancellor Hitler

Premier Tojo

Premier Mussolini

Peace Only Through 'Unconditional Surrender'—One of the high spots of the history-making meeting near Casablanca of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their chiefs of staffs was the decision that peace can come only through "unconditional surrender" of Germany, Japan and Italy. Plans for the defeat of Hitler, Tojo and Mussolini were discussed in a little villa just outside the French Morocco city. See below . . .

Retain Allied Initiative—The war plans for 1943 decided by the American and British leaders include "maintaining the initiative in every theater of the war." This action was filmed at Guadalcanal.

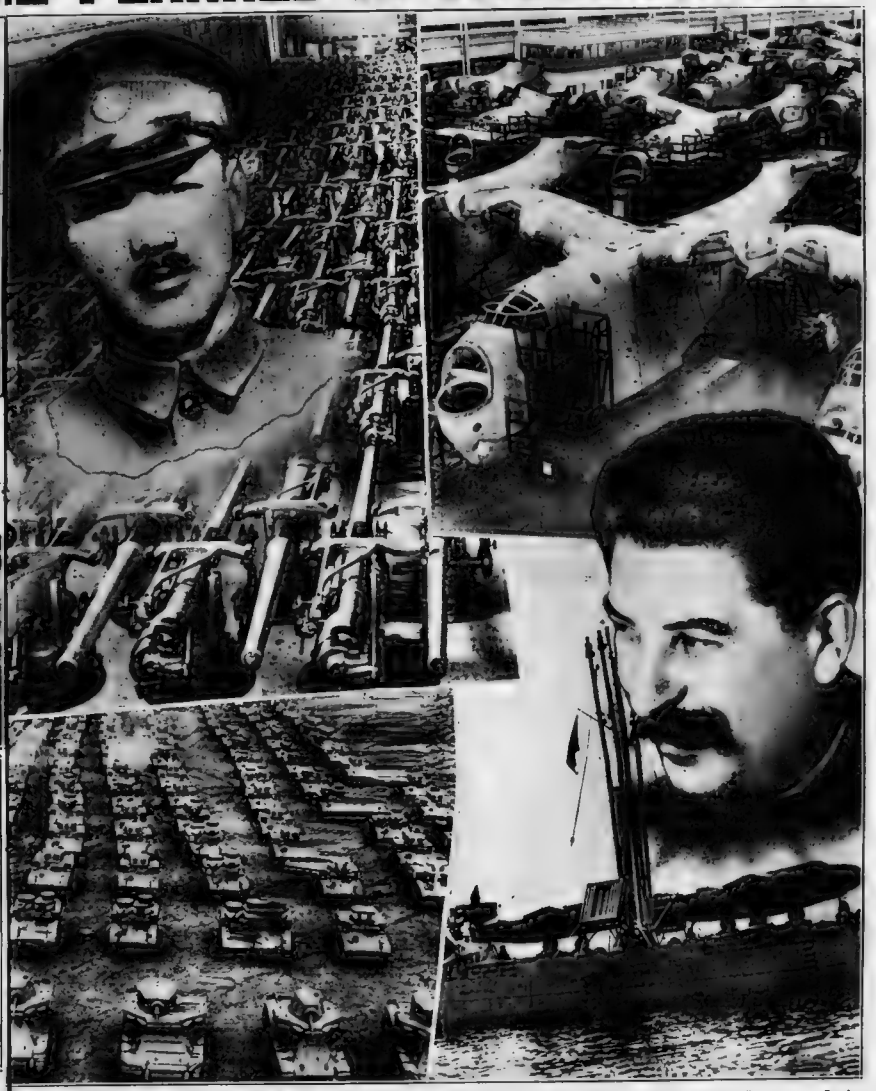
Invasions Discussed—The decision to maintain the battle initiative is taken to mean that invasion plans have been mapped for 1943.

Gen. Charles DeGaulle

Gen. Henri H. Giraud

Unity in French Command—These French leaders met at the conferences . . . and negotiations for a united French movement are now under way by the two generals.

International News Service Photos



Greater Assistance for Russia and China—More guns, tanks, planes and other supplies will pour out to Russia and China as a result of the Casablanca conferences. Maximum material aids to Stalin and Kai-Shek will be one of the prime aims of the United States and Great Britain this year. Closer co-operation with the Russian and Chinese leaders on all phases of the war was another agreement reached by Roosevelt and Churchill.

Gold Star ★ Heroines

By PAULINE WARREN

A FEW DAYS AGO, Mrs. Leonard J. Landry of 582 East 5th st., South Boston, received a letter from a high War Department official.

It said, in part:

"I have the honor to inform you that the Purple Heart Decoration has been awarded, posthumously, to your son, Pvt. Leonard E. Landry, Field Artillery, who made the supreme sacrifice in defense of his country . . . The Purple Heart Decoration will be forwarded you by the commanding officer . . . and should be received by you within ten days or two weeks."

"And that's all I have left of my son," cried Mrs. Landry. "Now he lies somewhere in North Africa. He was such a baby to die so young! Why, he was so youthful and small they used to call him the baby of his outfit. He was 20 years old only two days before he died! They tell me he fought like a tiger in that Suicide Squadron which was the first to land.

"How heartbreaking it is to sacrifice our sons, yet where would our country be if we didn't raise our sons to love it and fight for it?

"But he was so young! He fought me, too, in order to get me to sign his enlistment papers. Wrought up over Pearl Harbor, he could think of nothing else.

MRS. LEONARD J. LANDRY, GOLD STAR MOTHER

"On his first leave he went to New York sight-seeing and climbed the Statue of Liberty.

"He bought a postal card of the statue and mailed it to me with the notation:

"'This is what I'm fighting for.'

"He was so mild and modest. We used to call him 'Buddy.' Never would he permit himself to show his feelings about anything. That card was his only expression about the war. But I guessed long before how he felt and that's why I let him go—even though he was so young.

"After he enlisted he came home on a brief leave. Reading the newspaper one morning, he sighed:

"'Here's a guy who got the Purple Heart, Mom, guess I'll never get anything like that.'

"Knowing how brave he was, I had a sudden premonition that's the way he would die—one of the first. Turning away from him, I choked, then I teased him:

"'You don't know, son, you never can tell. Perhaps your chest won't be big enough to hold all the medals you're going to win.'

"Now I'm proud of that Purple Heart, but it's a poor substitute for his quiet vibrant gayety around the house.

PVT. LEONARD E. LANDRY
Killed in Action

"But it's all that I have left—pride that he died for the country he loved so much. I'll have to learn to live without him. I'm not one bit better than other mothers who have lost sons in this war. But sometimes the going is hard—particularly when I meet some of his old pals with whom he played football and baseball at South Boston High. He was so good at everything. Do you know that once in marksmanship he got 144 out of 160?

"He was always studying. He had been in training only 15 weeks when he died. The Army must have been proud of him, too.

"Now it's up to me to be worthy of him. He died that others might remain free and happy. So I'll try—I'll try awfully hard—to smile—and help—and do all I can. I'll wear that Purple Heart and every time someone admires it I'll lift up my head just a little higher and say in my heart:

"'See—son—just like I told you! Glory is yours—forever, till Eternity.'"

Come, night, and lay thy velvet head
On glorious day's outfacing face;
And all thy crowned flames command
For torches to our nuptial grace.
Love calls to war
Sighs his alarms
Lips his words are
The field his arms.
—CHAPMAN (Bridal Song)

"YOU SAY that most British women never know the exact amount of their husband's pay check," writes a young woman of Manhattan. "Is that supposed to be unusual? I have been married three years and have never seen my husband's pay check. And we are not British" . . . "We trust that as a former Kansan you will plan to be with us at our Kansas Day banquet at the Park Lane Hotel, New York." That's what Dr. Judson C. Fisher has written me. Don't know where the good doctor got the idea I am a native of Kansas. I was born on good, old East 120th st., New York City. And am proud of it.

ASIDES: All my hats are brown soft hats. Whenever I start to buy a gray hat my girl friend frowns upon the purchase. I am tired of brown hats. Do you think I should ignore my mate's frown and assert my manhood by buying a gray hat? . . . There should be a law calling for glasses in which drinks are sold to be plainly marked with their capacity. No glasses with false bottoms should be allowed . . . As to America's all-time youngest mother of twins it was Mrs. Frank Krause of Pueblo, Col., who at the age of 11 gave birth to a pair of healthy children . . . Note a claim that fat people make the best poets. The claim is not substantiated by names. Only fat poet I can think of is G. K. Chesterton.

FANCY FACTS: When a man and woman have similar or matched thyroid hormones their marriage is bound to be a happy one. Such is the statement of a man of science. He also says that in the matter of love at first sight it is usually a case of two people with matched thyroid hormones meeting. There are always with us some distributors of fancy facts whose statements tend to take the romance out of life. Take that doctor I mentioned not long ago who said we do not love with our hearts but with our livers. Also consider that historian who stated he could prove that Pocahontas did not die from a broken heart, as we have been fond of believing, but that she died from small pox.

ASKING: Queries from clients: Q—Can you successfully dispute the claim that "no famous man ever had a twin brother?" A—How about Jack "Twin" Sullivan and Mike "Twin" Sullivan of Cambridge, Mass.; both celebrated boxers in the yesteryear? Q—They say all newspapermen are typists of the "pick and peck" type. How about you? A—I am a typist like that but didn't develop the habit in a newspaper shop. I learned typewriting in high school, but when I had three fingers broken playing baseball I had to switch from regular system of typing to the pick and peck system. Q—Who was the oldest man to regularly play baseball in a professional league? A—Would say it was Jim O'Rourke. Jim caught regularly for Bridgeport in the Connecticut League when he was in his fifties.

SIDELIGHTS: A pupil of Confucius asked: "Master, should good be returned for evil?" Confucius replied: "Return good for good, for evil, justice" . . . If you have anything to memorize the best time to study it is just before you go to sleep. Things studied at that time are best remembered . . . "The Golden Hours." That is how Army surgeons describe the first six hours after a man is wounded. If a soldier can be taken from the battlefield and attended to within six hours after he has been wounded the chances of saving his life are usually good.

DOGS: Bostonian says she knew a man who gave his dog beer in a saucer and that the pup developed into a habitual drunkard. Too bad; but we must admit the pup was the victim of environment. On the other hand there was a citizen of Sausalito, Cal., who was a heavy drinker. When he staggered home drunk his dog would walk behind him head down and apparently distressed and ashamed. But when his master was sober the dog would walk along with his head held proudly in the air.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: In these high cost of living days what amount of money does a father have to give his young son to make the kid happy? When I was a kid a dime was a lot of dough and you could buy plenty with it. For example, ice cream sodas were a nickel. Then they had hundreds of different kinds of penny candy. You could also buy a big brown cookie for a cent. I think this was called a "Bolivar" . . . Brig.-Gen. H. S. Burwell, commanding Lowry Field, Denver, has emphatically stated he believes the women under his command are exceptionally good automobile drivers. I knew the general when he was playing baseball in the White Mountain League up in New Hampshire. He was a good second baseman. He was very popular with the ladies, but I recall several young women saying that he was "a great kidder." Also remember some others remarking: "He has a great line. He knows what to say to make the girls feel good."

LISTENS EAGERLY FOR NEWS OF PRESIDENT IN AFRICA

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, TUESDAY—This has been a curiously varied day. It began at 10:30 this morning with a group of young paratroopers up from Fort Bragg, North Carolina. They have completed their period of preparation and will soon be off to parts unknown, so I was especially glad to greet them and have them here. I wish them Godspeed wherever they go.

After my talk with them I met with a committee of three, which is already organizing a sunrise service for Easter Sunday—a service which they tell me will take place at 6:17 a. m.

The Knights of Pythias have a service also on that morning in the Arlington Memorial Amphitheater, which I always try to attend, so this would simply mean starting quite a bit earlier.

AFTER THEIR VISIT I had one other appointment and then walked over to the Willard Hotel to meet a group of some 80 boys who have taken the Rangers' training. They were demonstrating it for the benefit of the Women's National Press Club.

Since I could not stay for the demonstration I asked the boys what they would like me to do for them and, before I knew it, I found myself signing all their programs.

One young man wanted to be sure that I understood that this particular group was composed of the best fighting men in the world and that no Marines or paratroopers could do any better than they could.

I HURRIED BACK to the White House to greet 32 ladies, who were lunching, to hear Mrs. James Landis' report on what can be done in the line of recreation for government workers. They have been brought to Washington in such numbers that some of them have to live under rather uncomfortable and crowded conditions.

One club house is already a going concern—a garage lent for the duration by Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, at 2118 Massachusetts ave. It has has been remodeled and decorated, and much of the furniture given by Mrs. McLean has been reconditioned by a committee. Gradually members are joining up and it is becoming known as a place where government workers can meet each other and have a good time.

THE RADIO AND NEWSPAPERS are preparing us all for some announcement of importance tonight, and so I shall be anxiously listening to my radio at 10 p. m. Some of the news I may know a little about, but the greater part will be as much news to me as to every other citizen, and news has come to mean so much these days. I suppose, because one lives with one thought in mind, one prays for the day when news again can be a matter of casual interest.

THE MARCH of EVENTS

By BENJAMIN DECASSERES

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

I DON'T BUY BONDS to force the "four freedoms" on the world. I don't buy bonds to make this a "better world." I don't buy bonds to spread the gospel of the "Atlantic Charter." I don't buy bonds to put Germany back on her feet—as we did in the last war. I don't buy bonds to give the Japs another chance in the Pacific. I don't buy bonds to perpetuate Communism in Russia. I don't buy bonds so that India may be "free." I don't buy bonds to bring the blessings of democracy to Gazook, Gazeh or Gazah.

No—definitely!

I buy bonds so that Germany and Japan may be defeated. I buy bonds to preserve the free enterprise system, the Constitution and the liberties of our American people. I buy bonds to keep the old U. S. A. free of new-fangled "visions." I buy bonds not for a "new" America, but for that old, comfortable America that, looking back on it now, was pretty near Utopian. And I hope you are doing the same.

THE MORE I read of Gen. "Billy" Mitchell's case, the more far-seeing and morally heroic he becomes. In 1925, when Mitchell was brought before a court-martial for remarking that his "superior" (?) officers were lunkheads, or words to that effect, he answered them in these fearless words when the "high command" pronounced his opinions "almost treasonable":

"I believe, and I say without any fear of what you may do to me about it, that the system of the Department of War and the Department of the Navy is almost treasonable in that it does not give a proper place to the air service of this country in the organization of the national defense of this country."

But listen to this! It is what Maj. Allen W. Gullion said to the court trying Mitchell:

"Dismiss him for the sake of the young officers of the Army air service, whose ideals he has shattered and whose loyalty he has corrupted; dismiss him in the name of truth under whose Aegis he has sought protection, but whose faith he does not know . . . Throw him out! We ask it in the name of the American people, whose fears he has played upon, whose hysteria he has fomented, and whose faith he has betrayed!"

SECRETARY OF STATE HULL
Still Believes in Gentleman's Code

Sounds like the trial of a Dreyfus or of a Benedict Arnold, doesn't it?—in the year 1925!

THE ABSURD and archaic respect of the rulers and leaders of one country for another is the greatest danger we may have to face when it comes to punishing the criminals of Germany, Japan and Italy after this war. The Kaiser was never tried in the last war. He passed his later years in peace and security while millions of Allied soldiers and sailors who went forth to destroy him and his sons and the ring of military thugs that surrounded him gave up their lives and limbs and eyes. "Respect" for a ruler!

Is that to happen again? I hope not. Hand the criminals over to those peoples who seek not "justice," but vengeance, for "justice" is for the innocent, never for the guilty.

SECRETARY OF STATE CORDELL HULL is that delightful gentleman from Tennessee who still lives in the moon. In spite of all the jolts we have got on "international agreements," he recently urged Japan—in the matter of Red Cross help to American prisoners of war in Japan and the Philippines—to remember "our international agreement" on this subject. Why not ask Japan to please apologize for Pearl Harbor or would she kindly step out of the Aleutians?

Dear sir, you are talking to gorillas, not to men.

I DO NOT THINK there is a man in the country who sees more clearly into the hard knots and facts of the physical side of war than Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky. Recently he told an International News Service reporter in regard to naval engagements in the Pacific that——

"This is the hardest kind of fight, and, eventually, like all other rear guard actions, the Navy must go under. Both the Japanese and U. S. Navies in the Solomons will be destroyed. They can't compete with land-based air power."

He said also that aircraft carriers are already obsolete. Events in the Pacific would seem to bear him out. Giant bombing airplanes flying from Pacific bases are the answer to our war against Japan. With 25,000 bombers carrying 50 tons of bombs apiece, we could destroy Japan even if our Navy was sunk.

Hollywood Today

CAROLE LANDIS, MARTHA RAYE ENTERTAIN TROOPS ABROAD

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27—Way over in London, North Africa and other combat zones, Martha Raye has been entertaining the boys in the service and doing a swell job. Word of her splendid work came back to Hollywood and so one of the longest distance contracts on record was made between Martha and 20th Century-Fox.

Via cable Martha was asked if she would return and make a musical and her answer was yes. So, as soon as she, Carole Landis, Kay Francis and our other traveling girls who have been entertaining at the camps come back to the good old U. S. A. Martha will head for Hollywood on a long term contract. She is expected to be here some time in March.

"OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY," the best seller at the top of the non-fiction list, has been nabbed by Paramount. I have just finished reading this semi-autobiographical book-of-the-month hit written by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough. It is a gay comedy about the adventures of two girls in Paris in 1920, both young, gay and inexperienced, really a 1920 version of "My Sister, Eileen." Buddy De Sylva hasn't selected a cast, but he is huddling daily with Sheridan Gibney, who will produce the 400,000-copy best seller.

THE ONE THING George Raft wants most in all the world is to be able to marry Betty Grable, with whom he has been in love for a long time. But George is married and has been separated from Mrs. Raft for 14 years and she has steadfastly refused to give him a divorce, even though their married life together was just a matter of weeks. George is on his way East to confer with Mrs. Raft to see if an arrangement cannot be made so he and Betty can wed. He is appearing on the "Stage Door Canteen" and because so many of the bridges were washed out he had to travel 160 miles on a bus. His good man Friday, Mack Gray, was with him.

DO YOU KNOW the definition of "Philodese?" Mae Murray does and won $50 for the Soldiers' Relief Fund during a definition contest on the air. And thereby hangs a very dramatic story, details of which were written to me by Clyde Filimore. "Miss Murray had safely got by such words as 'tryst' and 'interlocutor,'" writes Clyde, "when the master of ceremonies asked her if she would try for the $50 word. Mae said she would and the word was 'philodese.' Promptly her answer came. 'It means suicide.' That word is not in my desk dictionary and when the admiring M. C. asked her how she knew it, Mae said: 'I heard it years ago when my dear friend, Olive Thomas died in Paris. Someone used the word in its literal meaning, loving or courting death, which somehow took the sharp edge off the tragedy.' By this time Mae was weeping."

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Cole Porter brought Sergt. Nelson Barclift, who plays Vera Zorina in "This Is the Army" to the Jack Warners for dinner Sunday. Barclift is so enthusiastic about Hollywood and so happy he is to be in the movie. He tells me they still have Army discipline and that he was at camp nearly a year before Irving Berlin put him in his show, and had been on the stage before he went into the Army. He studied with Pavlowa and Fokine, so it is no wonder he is such a fine dancer. Barclift said Irving Berlin was so ill the night of the opening they wondered how he could go on. Just a small dinner at the Warners—but so nice. Hedy Lamarr, in a bright red dress, was there with John Loder, who told me all through dinner how much he loved her. Virginia Zanuck, Top Sergt. Bill Haines, who looks so fit if he weren't in the Army I am sure the movies would nab him, were among the guests.

THE NEW TALL, blonde and handsome who has all the girls winging in Hollywood is Jess Barker, new heart throbber at Columbia. Jess, who is fresh from the New York stage, has been escorting such honeys as Anne Shirley and Marguerite Chapman to the night spots since he's been here—which is certainly keeping nice company if you ask me. But the curfew is due to ring soon, for Harry Cohn is putting the new hero to work immediately in "Right Guy" with Claire Trevor in the co-starring spot. It's about a male teacher who gives up the classroom to take a job welding in a defense factory.

FLORA ROBSON dons a mulatto makeup to play Angelique, the maid in "Saratoga Trunk." She is one of the most important characters in the Ferber story and was maid, nurse and companion to Clio. I have never known her to give a dull performance and she should be very good in this outstanding cast with Ingrid Bergman, Gary Cooper and now John Loder is to play the second male lead. His work in "Old Acquaintance" did it. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Five More Junior Army Defense Corps Organized

Five more Defense Corps have been organized to carry on the war activities of the Junior Victory Army, chief of which now is the 1943 Victory Book Campaign to gather reading material for our service men in all parts of the world.

Organizers of the newest units are:

Cyril V. Cole, Jr., Maywood st., Roxbury; Leo Chaput, English Row, Fisherville; Mrs. Martha Langstone, Brayton ave., Fall River; Raymond Gannon, Upper County rd., Dennisport, and Carol Whitcomb, Myrtle st., Somerville.

There are 18 boys and girls in the unit formed under the sponsorship of Mrs. Langstone, a deputy post warden and all have obtained the JVA insignia pin and membership card.

"Pearl Harbor" has been selected as the name of a new corps formed by James Tentindo, Gordon rd., North Reading, and sponsored by Mrs. Ann Tentindo. The captain is Alice Legrow. There are 18 in the unit. The girls are sewing for the Red Cross and the boys are conducting a scrap drive.

This corps is expected to help in the campaign to get books for our fighting forces.

All JVA members have been urged to back this drive by making house-to-house canvasses of their neighborhoods for books and taking the material to their nearest library. Good books in GOOD condition are needed, especially best sellers, detective and mystery stories and books on technical subjects.

The report of Capt. Daniel Petinge of the "Gore Victory" Corps, commanded by Louis J. Totino, Gore st., East Cambridge, and sponsored by Louis Chella, says nearly every member now has a war bond and is saving for additional ones.

To join the JVA send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. You will be enrolled. If, in addition, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin (well-wrapped) in your letter.

Fr. O'Conor, Dedham, Dies; YD Chaplain

The Rev. George P. O'Conor, 62, chaplain of the Yankee Division of World War I and one of the most widely-known parish priests in Boston archdiocese, died today at the rectory of St. Mary's Church, Dedham, where he was pastor.

During his overseas service, Fr. O'Conor served as a first lieutenant in the 301st Field Artillery, the organization which included many leading Massachusetts figures, among them Governor Saltonstall.

A native of Peabody, Fr. O'Conor was ordained in December, 1906, and served as curate at Sacred Heart Church, Malden, from then until 1917, when he entered the Army.

He was director of the Catholic Charities Bureau of Boston from 1922 to 1929. His parish assignments prior to St. Mary's included service at St. Francis de Sales Church, Roxbury, and Cathedral of the Holy Cross, Boston.

Fr. O'Conor was a trustee of Perkins Institution for the Blind, a director of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children; and vice-president of the Boston Health League.

He retired from active military service in 1936

CHAIR SMASHING AND KICKS LEAD TO MEDFORD DIVORCE

Breaking up a high chair, the gift of his mother-in-law, and flinging the pieces at his wife was Roger Smith's method of displaying his dislike for her mother, Mrs. Marion L. Smith testified today in winning her uncontested suit for divorce in Middlesex Probate Court.

Mrs. Smith told Judge Arthur E. Beane that she and her husband made their home on Pleasant st., Medford, following their marriage in April, 1936.

She testified that three months after the wedding an argument with her husband ended when he struck her and kicked her in the stomach.

Following a reconciliation, the couple went to live in Malden, Mrs. Smith said. On the birth of their first child, she testified, her mother gave them a highchair for the baby.

Her husband was angered at the gift and after taking the baby out proceeded to break the chair, throuwing the pieces wildly at his wife, the court was told.

Mrs. Smith further testified she left her husband in September, 1940, after he had beaten her.

Keniston Gets Council's O. K.

Judge Davis B. Keniston, center of last week's controversy between Gov. Saltonstall and Atty.-Gen. Robert T. Bushnell, today was unanimously approved by the Governor's Council for appointment as chief justice of Boston Municipal Court.

When Gov. Saltonstall announced the appointment last week, Bushnell objected and suggested naming of Judge Joseph R. Zottoli to the post vacated by the death of Judge F. Delano Putnam.

The Governor's reply, in effect, to Bushnell, was that he (the Governor) was running his own office. Today's vote endorsed that view.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried you'll never be without it, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, known for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

"Ride on El, or walk so that some unfortunate child may walk," will be the transportation slogan Friday night when Greater Boston treks to the Boston Garden to celebrate President Roosevelt's birthday party here.

Decorators today are transforming the Garden into a military "parade ground," said U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, chairman of the committee in charge of the Birthday Party.

The doors will be opened at 7 p. m., with a band concert, by the Bell Telephone band, at 7:15 p. m. A military motif features the evening with Marine and Coast Guard crack drill teams as well as American Legion and Spanish War presentations.

Leading artists from Boston night clubs will perform and dancing will round out a full evening.

Brandon reports that reservations for reserved seats and boxes has exceeded previous years and that the Boston Elevated is making special arrangements to handle the crowds.

Rise in Tunnel Toll Due April 1

Higher tolls for use of the Sumner traffic tunnel will probably be charged after April 1, it was indicated today as the result of the rejection by the state department of public utilities of a proposed schedule offered by the city of Boston.

The city proposed a renewal of present rates of 15 cents for passenger automobiles.

Pointing out that little traffic can now be classed as pleasure driving, the utilities board recommended the city establish a schedule that would produce maximum revenue. Boston officials have 60 days for preparing new rates.

Edith Shaw to Wed Army Lieutenant

By BETTY ALDEN

"I'M GOING to be married Jan. 30th, and it would mean everything to me for you to be matron of honor. Please come." This is the gist of the cable Edith Sohier Shaw of Mt. Vernon st. sent her best friend, Lilian Fernald Smith ten days ago when she set the date for her marriage to Lieut. Malcolm Kirkbride.

Lilian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Fernald of Beacon st., is the wife of Colin R. P. Smith, son of a prominent Bermuda family, and lives on the isle of Easter lilies. Her parents, who haven't seen her since before Pearl Harbor, had their hopes up that possibly she could fly home, but yesterday received a cable that she had done everything in her power to secure reservations but all in vain.

It goes without saying that Edith is just as bitterly disappointed as the Fernalds. She and Lillian have been close friends since childhood, came out together and Edith was Lilian's maid of honor.

Lilian is delighted with her life in Bermuda. She has a year old daughter with whom Mr. and Mrs. Fernald are acquainted only through photographs, and enjoys the simple social life the war has brought about on the islands.

When Edith becomes the bride of Lieut. Kirkbride in Leslie Lindsey Chapel Saturday afternoon the four bridesmaids will be her cousin, Mrs. Gazaway L. Chittenden (Gertrude Shaw) who was married last Saturday and is coming home from her her honeymoon; Mrs. John W. Bryant, daughter of William Phillips, former Ambassador to Italy, Patricia Bayne of Westwood and Katharine Warner of Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Fiske will give a luncheon just before the wedding for the bridesmaids and ushers, and there will be a Friday dinner Friday evening. Lieut. Kirkbride has been house hunting in Washington and no sooner found several apartments he thought his fiancee would like than he was transferred to Baltimore. Now the couple will have to spend part of their honeymoon house hunting all over again.

Fuel rationing changed the locale of Barbara Musgrave's marriage yesterday afternoon to John B. Tuthill of Michigan. The ceremony was to have been in historic Christ Church, Cambridge, but when it was discovered that the church could not be heated for week-ends, the locale was changed to St. John's Chapel at the Episcopal Theological School.

The 4:30 ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Musgrave of Sparks st., Cambridge. Mr. Musgrave is descended from a distinguished Cumberland, England, family which possessed the famous cup described in Longfellow's poem The Luck of Eden Hall. Yesterday's bride attended Buckingham and Masters' Schools and studied art in Florence, Italy.

EDITH SHAW, daughter of Mrs. Sohier Shaw, weds Lieut. Malcolm Kirkbride Saturday.

Dog Survives 800-Foot Fall

MEDFORD, Ore., Jan. 27 (AP)—"Two Bits" chased an imaginary squirrel too close to the edge of a cliff, barked for help as he skidded and then fell over the ledge, a drop of 800 feet straight down.

The little fox terrier's master, Bill Ziegler, observer at a lookout station on the Rogue River National Forest, gasped at the tragedy.

Two weeks later Ziegler started down the trail to cut a pole, and just around the first curve was amazed to see "Two Bits" climbing slowly and shakily up the trail.

Try This Savory Nut Loaf

By MARTHA LEE

IN ANOTHER AGE man arose early and went forth to hunt and forage for the family food. But today it is the woman, sack in hand, who goes a-hunting.

Today we are all shopping, cooking, and serving food in the fashion of modern primitives. We get what we can, cook what we have and serve less of this and more of that. We are feeding our families less meat—but more imagination.

We can say "bah" to those who accused us of inefficiency if we didn't sit down on Monday morning and plan an entire week's menu. We've learned to be versatile and quickly plan a meal at the meat market in collaboration with the butcher, the dairyman and the grocer. Life may be a little difficult, but it's far from dull.

COUNTING "POINTS"

Before many weeks, the government will have ready for us those nice new ration books we have been hearing so much about, books designed to turn us into rapid calculators. Menu planning will be on the point system—so many points for a pound of hamburger and so many points for a pork chop. You can elect to feast on roast beef and eat beans the rest of the week, or brush up on your mathematics and wisely stretch your rations.

That's why lots of us are hunting old cook books and garnering country kitchen recipes for nutritious and inexpensive main dishes. With "meat sundries" such as oxtails, kidney, brains, sweetbreads, liver, etc., on the "free" list, we're bringing grandma's oxtail ragout and kidney pie up to date. Wartime meals have become a daily challenge to our ingenuity

If you really want something new, delicious and different, try this savory nut loaf. It was worked out by a health club, but don't let that prejudice you.

SAVORY NUT LOAF

2 large onions, chopped
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 cup grated carrots
1 cup minced celery
1½ cups pecans or walnuts, finely ground
1 cup minced parsley, loosely packed
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs, preferably whole wheat
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
2 egg yolks
1 cup thin cream or evaporated milk

Saute finely chopped onions in butter in skillet (a copper-clad stainless steel one if you are fortunate). Add remaining ingredients in order given and mix thoroughly. Shape into loaf and place in greased baking pan. Bake at 350 deg. F. about 45 minutes or until loaf is brown and vegetables are soft. Serve with Mushroom Sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

1 large onion, chopped
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ lb. mushrooms, sliced
½ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
3 tbsp. soy bean or other flour
1½ cups milk
½ cup stock or water
2 tbsp. minced parsley

Saute onions in fat in skillet. Add mushrooms, salt and pepper and cook 10 minutes. Add flour, stirring constantly over low heat, then add milk and stock, continuing stirring. Cook slowly until thickened. Serve over Savory Nut Loaf and sprinkle with minced parsley.

Then, for a fascinating dish that's easy to make, use this recipe. Look for an Italian food store in your neighborhood—there are lots of them around, and ask for the special spaghetti and cheese you'll need.

Beauty

Concentrated Oil Grand Pre-Spring Skin Tonic

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—So your complexion from every angle . . . will be the mirror of perfection . . . today Arline Gould suggests that you give it the benefit of a concentrated, rich oil, if it is dry and sensitive. Lenore Aubert poses.

16 Rich Herbal Oils Blended

By ARLINE GOULD

SINCE A THIRST-DRY complexion can never be a young looking one . . . if lines and crow's feet seem to march in relentlessly, no matter what you use to counteract them . . . change your tactics completely! Let your skin feast on a concentrated oil . . . in which no less than 16 rich herbal oils are blended . . . and of which you need use no more than seven or eight drops at one time!

This oil has done very special things in combatting the fiercest kind of element, as one great proof of its efficacy, among many others. It was used for 11 years by a woman who lived on a western desert . . . and who received regular quantities of the oil by airmail

MORNING AND NIGHT

It is meant to act as an "additional" aid . . . not to replace any cream or other aid you choose to use. Use it morning and night . . . and at noon if you're at home and can manage it. The golden, thick, fragrant oil quickly releases a skin from dryness or leatheriness.

In fact, the temporary lubrication it affords makes any skin look more luminously fresh instantly. Just smooth it on anytime you can . . . while gardening, doing housework or practicing on the piano!

There are no animal fats or greases in the oil . . . nothing that will clog the pores . . . and you should use it around the eyes and on the throat as well as all over the face. Use it overnight, mixed with a tissue cream around the eyes (first apply the oil, then the cream) and apply it the same way on the throat and on parentheses around the mouth.

Put a drop on each eyelid during the daytime.

To learn about this rich, concentrated oil, which is a grand pre-spring treatment for lined, tired faces, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fashion

HATS FOR TAILORED suits are going to get away from too many flowers, too much veil and such fluff . . . though on Easter morn, if that suits your fancy, go to it! Madame Pauline, the hat designer, likes such a careful ensemble as this, to go with the simplicity of a tailleur . . . so she made the pale blue straw cloth forward-perched hat, trimmed it with blackbirds, then enhanced it with matching blue gloves on which a single bird is fastened. The high crown is lined with black felt.—ANNICE BRINK.

LOVE AND MARRIAGE

'Other Woman' Problem

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

We've been married seven years; I am 35 years old and my husband is 40. About a year ago my mother was very ill, and I took care of her during the day and stayed with her some nights to relieve my sister.

I tried not to neglect my husband, preparing all his meals and keeping the house in order, and he seemed satisfied.

I believe that during that time he met another woman who probably flattered him a good deal, because he is easily influenced by flattery, and although he does not admit or deny it, I believe he's anxious to get away. We've talked this over, and he says that while he still thinks a great deal of me the old affection has gone.

He is very kind to me, gives me a good household allowance, and we go out among our friends, but something seems to be missing.

What shall I do? Shall I leave home without telling him, so that he'll worry, or shall I get a job and stay there? UNDECIDED.

It seems doubly hard that your husband should have taken the time when you were looking after a desperately ill mother to be disloyal. You haven't quarreled, and there have been no bitter recriminations, which is all to the good.

Your idea of getting a job is good. Go to your nearest U. S. Employment Service and see what they have to offer you in the way of a defense job, as they are looking for workers all the time. Don't leave your home, my dear; you'll only give this "vamp" a chance to walk right in the moment your back is turned.

Perhaps you may find something you've always wanted to do—and please continue with the safe and sane policy of avoiding accusations.

SEEMS TO BE GENUINE OTHELLO

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My boy friend, whom I'll call Jimmie, although that isn't his name, and I had a misunderstanding just because I went out with a friend of his. I didn't think Jimmie would care, because he had never asked me to go "steady," so I accepted a date from his friend.

On the way to the movie we met Jimmie, and he carried on terribly and told his friend to leave me immediately, which he did, and when we got home again we had a quarrel. And now he's too proud to make up, although I'm anxious to patch up things again, for I love him very much.

He's 21, and I'm 19, and we have been going together about five weeks. Any suggestion you make will be appreciated. ANNE.

As you were not going "steady" with Jimmie, he had positively no right to stage an Othello act. And I think it would do him a very good turn if he ate the humble pie instead of you. But as you are both at the heavenly ages of 19 and 21, when lovers' quarrels are just a prelude to more lovemaking and perhaps a better understanding, don't take Jimmie's tantrums too seriously.

LONDON DESIGNER OFFERS BRAND-NEW SUIT MIXTURE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

OVER from London, Molyneux' newest suit mixture is being admired and influencing people in this country. The great London dressmaker combines two shades of lilac with black to make his suit mixture, and the result is fresh and stimulating. He puts a black skirt with a deep lilac colored jacket, and adds a paler lilac crepe blouse.

The original model, imported by Villa Zigmund, can be seen in Miss Dulin's sketch. It has other points of interest besides the color scheme. The short, fitted jacket has wide revers that go into epaulettes along the shoulders, and graceful rounded corners where it lies over the black skirt. The jacket is made of tweed and the skirt of a smooth black wool. It is very straight and slit up a few inches at the hem so movement is easy.

The blouse has a soft jabot of self-material that fills in the jacket neckline like a scarf.

P. O. Bars This 'Jap Finisher'

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 27 (AP)—A law firm here is wondering what President Roosevelt's reaction would be if he were asked to allow shipment of a large knife to the Solomons to "finish off" the Japs.

Nathaniel Harvey, a member of the firm, said a naturalized citizen had asked his assistance.

"My son is in the Marines in the Solomons," the father related. "He wrote that the Japs are tough and he wanted a big knife to finish them off. I bought a knife and had a razor edge put on both sides of the blade."

But, he added, postal authorities refused to accept it and the Marine recruiting office wouldn't forward it.

Harvey said the man then added, "I want you to write to the President and tell him the postmaster and the recruiting station are no good."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

International News Service Staff Writer

Stalin congratulated "The Red Army, the commanders and the political workers" who broke the Nazi lines.

Russia is the only country where a political worker can break anything stronger than a promise.

A Russian ward heeler is trained in Commando tactics and a district captain must be able to handle a tank.

When a Russian politician says "We are fighting," he means him and the other guy, not just the other guy.

In Russia a political worker is a clay pigeon. In America he just has clay feet and heart to match.

There are many things about the Russian system we do not admire, but we are in favor of replacing the politician's tin box with a tin helmet.

Thought for the Day: Politician's brigade now forming—bring vote!

Grief Goes With Florida Closing

WHEN I READ the statement from Florida of Dan Chappel, attorney for the Horsemen's Protective Ass'n, to the effect that the re-opening of Florida racing is "virtually hopeless," it merely confirmed an opinion frequently expressed in this column.

The only way that Florida racing could have continued with the ban on the use of autos to go to sports events was for the tracks to take a loss. Hialeah Park announced as soon as it learned of the government ruling that it would not open its winter meeting, while Tropical Park refused to finish its meeting.

No one appeared greatly interested in the hundreds of horsemen who had shipped their thoroughbreds to Florida for the racing season. They were left by the wealthy owners of Tropical Park and Hialeah to get along as best they could. A few of them might have got shipping money if Tropical Park had completed its meeting which only had a few more days to go.

Perhaps they should have thought of that before they shipped South. If they did such deep thinking, they never would be on the racing end of the turf sport. It costs thousands of dollars to support racing stables, and the best that the average horsemen can hope for is to make a living. Most of them who stay at the game end up broke.

It is a love for the thoroughbred and the uncertain circus type of life around a track that causes horsemen to tolerate the many hard knocks that go with the sport. A 12-hour day with its numerous headaches is forgotten if the horseman has a winner.

Stable Swipes Are in a Pitiful Condition

YOU HAVE SEEN the stable hands, commonly referred to at the race track as swipes, leading the proud thoroughbreds from the barn area to the paddock. You may have observed them as they later held the bridle of their stable's horse as the field has paraded from the paddock to the track. As the horse enters the track, the swipes usually gives him a parting pat and says a word of encouragement to the jockey. He then hurries across the track and from a position in the infield he watches the race. He is happy if his stable wins even though he has not a $2 ticket on the victor.

The swipes usually make their homes in the barn area. They sleep on a cot in the stable near their horses. It was the way the swipes lived 50 years ago. Racing has become a billion dollar business, but as men with social standing have accepted the high officers in the various associations and the fat salaries that went with them the swipes have been overlooked.

True, they are still permitted to work 12 hours a day at the game they love. They can sleep near their horses in the heat of summer and in the biting cold of early spring and late fall. They are up with the sun getting the thoroughbreds ready for their workouts. They are often walking a horse so as to cool him out long after the last $2 customer has left the heartless concrete of the race track for the warmth and companionship of a well equipped hotel dining room or some friendly cafe.

When he gets work and is paid, the swipes get from $75 to $100 a month. They did manage to get a little more money in recent years. There were times when some of them received as little as $40 to $50 a month.

Billy Almy Suggests Clubhouse for Stable Help

BILLY ALMY, steward at Suffolk Downs and Rockingham Park, suggests that when the war ends that the tracks should build a clubhouse for the stable help where they could meet at night and have a taste of the nice things of life. Billy declares that if Suffolk Downs should erect such a building it could be called the "Tom Thorp Memorial." Tom loved the broken person in life, and gave thousands of dollars to these unfortunates. President Charles F. Adams of Suffolk Downs says there is real merit to Almy's idea.

The stable swipes never could pay Tom Thorp back the money he gave to them, but they never knowingly permitted any crooked horsemen or gamblers to "fix" races where Tom Thorp was a steward. The old men with young hearts in the stable area always saw to it that Tom had information of any contemplated wrong doing so that he could prevent the attempted larceny.

If Tom were alive, he would have been at Tropical Park when it closed, and he would have made it his personal business to have seen that every stable swipe who needed it was staked. He would also have helped stranded horsemen to get home.

The leaders in racing, who admit their own greatness in publicity handouts from their own tracks, now have a chance to prove whether they have any sentiment in their makeups. The men who put on the show are in dire financial distress, and it is up to the people who have made millions out of racing to do something about it.

They cannot shirk their full duty any more than any American can during a war. Those of us who have reaped the benefits of being Americans must be prepared to give everything we may have to see that our country is preserved.

There is no place for personal selfishness in sports or in patriotism.

BRAVES' GOMEZ PUTS IN HURRY CALL FOR MURPHY

By HERB FINNEGAN

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez answered the doorbell at Pine Meadows C. C. in Lexington, his winter habitat. His clothes weren't in keeping with the sartorial splendor expected of a country squire because he had just returned from his defense job in Lynn.

But his ever present sense of humor was working overtime. "You mean they sent me here without Murphy!" he inquired. "Hey, wifie, send in a hurry call for Murphy at once."

Thus did the stylish southpaw take the news that he had been sold by the Yankees to the Braves in a straight cash transaction after 13 years with the perennial world champs. Murphy, baseball men know, saved plenty of games for Gomez, especially in '41 when Lefty had a fine 15-5 record.

WIFE IS HAPPY

"I'm tickled to death," chimed in his better half, the former June O'Dea of musical comedy fame. June was busy picking up after playing with house wreckers Vernona, 2½, and Gerry, seven months. "Home at last," sighed the comely Mrs. Gomez whose mother and sister live in Lexington.

After quipping that it was the "fastest drop he ever took from first place to seventh," Gomez sat down on the living room couch with Vernona and said seriously: "I want to play baseball, of course, and I'm glad to know the Braves thought enough of me to buy me. I'm tickled to death to be able to play anywhere in a war-torn year like this."

"I'm not squawking one way or the other. The Yanks were good to me and I hope I was good to them. But I've never been with any other major league club, and well . . . this happened so suddenly.

"Perhaps if I were smarter I would have suspected something. I can look back now and see how I didn't pitch an inning in September, nor in the World Series. Hardly pitched any batting practices for that matter. But I don't figure I'm washed up. Why I'm only 33 (younger than some of the Braves' rookies).

WORK OUT AT "Y"

"I'm in wonderful trim," he insisted, and showed his waistline to prove it.

"Weigh just 185 and feel like a million after working all winter.

"They tell me Braves Field is a pitcher's paradise. I hope so. I've already made plans to start working out at the Boston 'Y' next week. I'll stop there on my way home from work for an hour, also work out Saturday afternoons. But is it true in the N. L. that a pitcher has to give the players an automobile if they give him more than a run to work on?"

Yet Gomez, up or down, will always be able to laugh. For example, Vernona insisted upon playing with his wrist watch. "You can't have it," he scolded. "This is a World Series watch, and your daddy won't be seeing them any more."

DONS NEW LIVERY—Lefty Gomez, for 12 years one of the leading pitchers in the American League while working for the New York Yankees, will hurl for the Boston Braves in 1943. Lefty was sold outright to the Quinn brigade yesterday. Lefty, who worked in six World Series, was pleased with the trade that will bring him near his home at Lexington. He is pictured with his wife and two children, Vernona, 2½ and Gerry, seven months.

Order Three Months Rest for Calder

TORONTO, Jan. 27 (INS)—Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, was ordered by his physician to take a complete rest for three months as a result of the heart attack he suffered yesterday while attending a meeting of the board of governors of his circuit.

Mervyn "Red" Dutton, who has been connected with hockey for years and in recent seasons headed the new defunct New York Americans, has been named to carry on for Calder temporarily as pilot of the league.

Tough Assignment Confronts Bruins

By BILL GRIMES

With the toughest double-header on the N. H. L. schedule coming up this week-end, the Bruins are on the spot, now that they have dissipated a more or less comfortable lead by losing three in a row.

After dropping road games in Detroit and Chicago, the Bruins returned home and were beaten 5 to 3 last night by the Detroit Red Wings. It was the first victory the Red Wings have chalked up over the Rossmen here during a regular season since Dec. 7, 1937.

Of course, the Bruins were short handed. Capt. "Dit" Clapper is still on the hospital list and Don Gallinger and "Busher" Jackson were not physically fit for such a rugged contest. Gallinger has been a victim of the "flu" for almost a week and he was a very tired young man when the final whistle blew. Jackson's shoulder is still handicapping his play.

BOLL SCORES TWICE

Buz Boll and Bill Hollett featured for the Bruins. Boll scored his 22d and 23d goals and Hollett thrilled the large gathering with the most sensational play of the evening. An end to end rush, through the entire Detroit club and a great conversion on a back hand shot put Hollett in favor with the fans.

The Bruins leave for Toronto Friday. They are scheduled to meet the Maple Leafs on Saturday night and immediately after the game, they'll drive to Welland, Ont., to make train connections for New York where they play the Rangers Sunday.

Shorthanded as they have been, the Bruins cannot be censured for dropping three in a row. They are not the same club any time that Dit Clapper is out of the lineup. Then, too, they have played nine games since the 9th of this month and they have six more to play before the 9th of next month.

POINT OUT FRONT

At present they are one point out in front of Detroit, but they have played three more games than the Red Wings. But the most serious part of the setup is the fact that after they play the Maple Leafs for the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross on Feb. 9. The Bruins will have played 41 games and therefore have only nine games to complete their 1942-43 schedule.

Between Feb. 9 and the end of the N. H. L. season, March 18, the Red Wings will play 13 games and Toronto 16 to 9 for the Bruins. Therefore, unless the Rossmen have established a good lead after playing 41 games, the chances of their finishing one-two are very slim.

'START WORK' BUCS ORDER TO PLAYERS

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27 (AP)—A tip to all baseball players to start their spring training now was passed along by Bill Benswanger, in ordering his Pittsburgh Pirates to start weight-reducing exercise at once—seven weeks before the formal workouts start.

The club president prescribed "as much reducing and limbering-up work as possible in your home towns," inasmuch as the grapefruit circuit workouts will be held in northern climes in this year of war.

Figuring the sun won't be as strong at the Pirates' new training grounds at Muncie, Ind., in March as it used to be at their Southern California quarters, Benswanger wrote the Bucs asking that:

1—Players living in the south do as much actual baseball playing or working out as possible outdoors.

2—Those in the north exercise as best they can to remove all excess weight prior to opening of training.

"In case we have to train indoors some days, that will improve the legs and wind but I don't know about reducing.

"The players can choose their own pre-training exercise—gym workouts, chopping wood, road work—anything that gets results.

"In fact players should always report to camp in shape, as the public expects them to be good athletes, but since we're training in the north it's all the more important to have the extra weight off so we won't waste time at training camp."

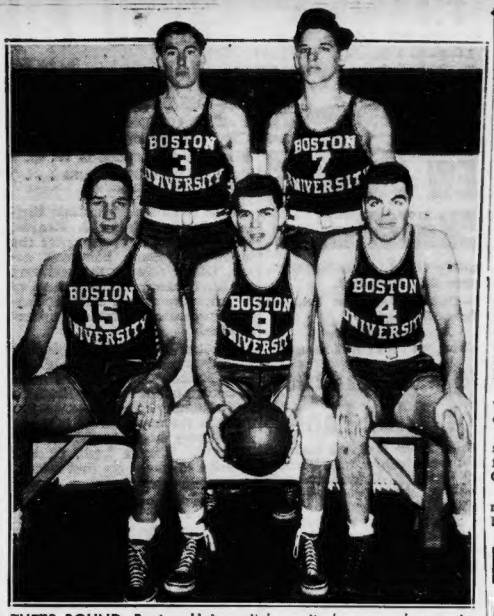
Quincy May Restore Sports

The Quincy school committee recinded a vote taken last November by which they abolished all interscholastc sports with the exception of football for the remainder of the school year.

The attention of the school committee was brought to the situation by a resolution adopted by the Quincy city council at the meeting last week. The resolution was offered by Councilor Joseph J. Kendrick.

A delegation of Quincy and North Quincy High School boys argued before the committee in favor of resuming interscholastic sports which include basketball, hockey and wrestling.

The school committee appointed a sub-committee consisting of John H. Taylor, William Anderson and L. Paul Marini to investigate the situation and report at the next meeting, Feb. 9.



TUFTS BOUND. Boston University's varsity hoopmen hope to get back into the victory column Saturday night when they battle Tufts at Medford. Seated in front are Howie Mitchell, Capt. Joe Silver and George Taylor. Standing are George Gaudreault and Charles Cingaloni. Taylor is ill and may not be able to play.

TWO AMERICAN 'ALL' TEAM MEMBERS IN ARMED SERVICE

Members of the Boston Evening American-Daily Record All-Scholastic Football team for 1942—selected by the Board of Coaches—will be feasted and honored next Wednesday night at the annual banquet given in their honor at the Hotel Lenox, Boston.

As has been the case in past years, there will be a diversified program of prominent sports speakers to be announced later.

Already, three of the 11 players selected by the schoolboy coaches have left their schools for other fields, two have joined the armed forces while another, Al Cannava of Medford, has departed to take up his studies at Notre Dame.

Ray Brickley, Everett high and captain of the All team, joined the Army Air Corps last December while John "Bozo" Moran, Salem end, is in training with the U. S. Marines on Parris Island, North Carolina.

EIGHT PLAYERS HONORED

This trio will not be able to attend but other standouts will be on hand to receive their All Scholastic jackets. Cannara, Brickley and Moran will have their awards forwarded.

Players who will be at the dinner will include Leonard Morrissey, Newton; Roy Norden, Boston English; Bob Connell, Saugus; Joe Indrisano, Revere; Mando Provitola, Malden; Mitch Smiarowski, Lynn Classical; Craig Capaccioli, Quincy, and Bob Clark, Watertown.

These jackets, bearing an All Scholastic emblem on the left breast, are now on display in the show windows of the James W. Brine Sporting Goods Co., Summer st. This will mark the second year that the famous sporting store has recognized this team as the official all club, donating these jackets as a significance of its feeling.

Three local schoolboy athletes, including two former football captains, left yesterday for Parris Island, S. C., where they will begin their U. S. Marine Corps "boot camp" training. The trio are Gregory Henesy, former class president and football captan at Brighton; Bob Millen, Jr., former grid captain and baseball star at Hebron Academy and Melrose; and Edward Gaizunas, football ace from Roslindale high.

'Pennock Made Me,' Says Lefty Gomez

A major league ball player can get his unconditional release after 10 years in the majors only if he is being sent to a league of lower classification. Thus Gomez, after 13 years with the Yanks, had no choice other than go with the Braves . . . Here's something on waiver not to well known: When Gomez was waived out of the A. L., every N. L. club had an equal chance at him. The Braves put in the highest bid . . . The Yanks took Nick Etten from the Phils in the same fashion. When he was waived out of the N. L. by the Phils, all A. L. clubs were free to bid on Etten. The Yanks put in the highest bid.

Bill Dickey is the lone Yank who outlived Gomez. Dickey came up in '28, Gomez in '30 . . . Could Lefty remember the Yankees' line-up when he broke in? "There was Gehrig at first," said Lefty, "Lazzeri at second, Mark Koenig at short, Lynn Lary and Ben Chapman at third, Babe Ruth, Earle Combs in the outfield with Ben Chapman moving out there later . . . Catchers were Dickey, Bubbles Hargrave and Benny Bengough. Pitchers, among others, were Herb Pennock, Fred Heimach, George Pipgras, Tom Zachary and Henry Johnson."

"That Pennock helped me more than any man I ever met in baseball," said Gomez. "When I broke in in '30 I saw Pennock tossing up his slow stuff down South and getting murdered. I used to relieve him and, though I might walk a couple and hit a couple, I could get them out and they never scored on me.

"Meanwhile Fennock was getting shellacked. I wondered why they were letting him take his regular turn with me fireballing them in. I soon found out. When the season opened there was Pennock still throwing his slow stuff, but giving the A's only three hits and winning, 2-1.

"And my fireball stuff was being hammered. Said I to myself: 'This Pennock must know something.' So I decided to get to know him better and I did. He taught me more about pitching than I ever knew existed." . . . Gomez won 2, lost 5, was released to St. Paul. Coming back under Pennock's tutelage, Gomez had a 21-9 record in '31, 24-7 in '32. His best year was 1934, when he led the league with a 26-5 record.

Hank Gowdy Captain In Army

CINCINNATI, Jan. 27 (AP)—Hank Gowdy, first major league ballplayer to enlist in military service during World War I, was notified that he had been commissioned a captain in the Army and to report next Saturday at Fort Benning, Ga.

Gowdy, 53 years old, thus will break a 13-year association with Bill McKechnie, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, one that began in 1930 a year after the "Old Sarge" signed with the Boston Braves.

Gowdy came on here as coach when McKechnie became manager of the Cincinnati clubs in 1937.

Gabe Paul, the Reds' traveling secretary, said Gowdy had informed General Manager Warren Giles of his re-entry into the Army.

"There will have to be a replacement," said Paul, "but who it will be, we haven't the slightest idea."

FENCING HIT AT HEIGHTS

Although fencing is not an overpublicized sport at Boston College, it has become popular at the Heights, and the foilsmen are gaining in number rapidly.

However, most of the members of the team are inexperienced in this sport, but Capt. Yale Richmond and Jack Delany, two of the veterans, are acting as the coaches and the team is improving daily.

They held their first meet last week against Brown and Boston U., but were rather decisively defeated in both the foil and saber events. Brown ran up 33½ points to take the top score. A few days previous, the Bruins had been the victors over M. I. T., who are the perenial champs, and thus they were heavy favorites.

LIFELONG FAN TELLS WHY HE LOVES TURF

By FRANK GRAHAM

This is the story of a fellow who became a racing enthusiast before he was old enough to know better. Before he ever had seen a race track or even a race horse. When, in fact, the only horses he ever saw pulled wagons through the streets of Harlem.

One afternoon he sat in the balcony of an old theatre and saw a melodrama called "In Old Kentucky". You may never have seen the show, but you know the plot. The villain (probably from New York) is going to foreclose on the old plantation and the only chance the old Colonel who owns the place has to hold it is to win the Kentucky Derby with his filly, Queen Bess.

The night befre the race the villain gets the jockey drunk and he still in a stupor at post time but a strange jockey is put up in his place and wins the race and, of course, it turns out that the strange jockey is nobody but the Colonels daughter, Madge, just as the fellow in the balcony suspected all along.

PHOTO FINISH

He never will forget the scene on the plantation (it must have been about when the Brown Hotel stands now because it seemed to be fairly handy to the race track) and the band of red-coated pickaninnies whose leader said:

"If Queen Bess wins, play 'My Old Kentucky Home'. But if she loses play 'Massa's in The Cold, Cold Ground!"

Then came the big scene, with three horses running on a treadmill and Queen Bess stuck her nose in front at the wire in a real photo finish, although of course in those days inventors were still experimenting with cameras.

The fellow in the balcony was so excited that nothing that happened thereafter made any impression on him. To this day he doesn't know who won the girl. All he remembers is that Queen Bess won the race, although it is a cinch the girl wound up in a clinch with somebody. It was years later that he saw his first race, but from that day on he was interested in the horses and used to cut pictures of Colin and Irish Lad and Water Boy and Broomstick out of the papers and paste them in a scrap book, along with the pictures of his heroes among the ball players and the prizefighters.

MEMORY BOOK

It was a long time after that that this fellow had a chance to get around to the race track fairly regularly. He still doesn't know a pastern from a yen hock, or whatever it is, but his interest in racing has increased from year to year.

He doesn't cut pictures out of the papers and paste them in a book any more but his memory book is loaded with them: Churchill Downs on Derby day . . . the sun shining on the white buildings of Agua Caliente . . . the view from the clubhouse terrace at Saratoga . . . early morning on the back stretch at Aqueduct with Mr. Fitz . . . the old club house at Pimplico . . . Whirlaway in the walking ring at Belmont . . . a bench on the clubhouse turn at Empire City . . . dusk settling over Keeneland and the rolling fields beyond . . these and a thousand others.

Some of his friends think he is a little touched in the head about racing which, as a matter of fact, probably is true. And one of them said:

"How else can you explain him? He doesn't own horses, train them, ride them or know anything about them. He doesn't bet and, by way of rounding out his utter uselessness to racing, he doesn't even pay to get in."

I know all about this fellow and what he thinks about and what his friends think of him because, you see, I'm the fellow.

RACING NOTES

The Fair Grounds, virtually untroubled by the OPA ban on pleasure driving because of its location, used a horse and buggy yesterday in taking its patrol judges to and from their stations. An automobile was used in more normal times.

Another handicap eligible joins the New Orleans colony today with the arrival of Mrs. D. B. Miller's Incoming. The horse is rated a certain starter in the New Orleans Handicap on Feb. 28. Mrs. Miller having expressed a desire that Incoming oppose Whirlaway at the earliest chance.

Corydon, Mrs. Payne Whitney's consistent winner, is the top-weighted entrant in the $3500 added Chalmette Handicap. The race is the main attraction of the Saturday Fair Ground program and the Greentree charger will carry 126 pounds.

Next in weight favor and deadlocked at the 124-pound mark are the Louisiana Farm's Riverland and Ben F. Whitaker's Requested.

180 DAYS FOR N. Y. TRACKS

By The Associated Press

Pleasure driving or no, New York will have its full quota of racing during 1943.

The New York State commission yesterday announced the dates for the coming season, opening at Jamaica on April 8 and continuing for 180 racing days until Nov. 3.

Even Saratoga Springs, the upstate spa, was granted its customary month of August, the program there opening on July 26 and going on to Aug. 28.

The New York city dates are: Jamaica, April 8-May 8, and Oct. 11-20; Belmont, May 10-June 5, Sept. 20-Oct. 9; Aqueduct June 7-26, Aug. 30-Sept. 18; Empire City June 28-July 24, Oct. 21-Nov. 3.

Although the dates have been allotted, not all the details have been worked out and the tracks have announced meetings of their officials at which the complete plans will be formulated.

Double Header For Mat Fans

There'll be a double-header at the Arena tonight when Promoter Paul Bowser, staging his weekly wrestling show, sends Leo Numa against Maurice (The Angel) Tillet. Billy Watson and Slidin' Bill Hansen are featured in the other main bout.

Numa, a specialist in leg holds, will be hitting The Angel at his weakness and it wouldn't be surprising if Numa topped the No. 1 challenger for the heavyweight crown.

Danno O'Mahony, former champion, will meet Rebel Bob Russell in the top bout in the preliminaries. Other pairings will find Les Ryan tackling Fred Bruno and George Linnehan meeting up with Manuel Cortez.

THRU BINOCULARS

By HORACE WADE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27.

DISA AND DATA OF THE TURF—More and more Florida refugees hitting the ods and rails for the Crescent City and the only racing in the land at present. Latest to be allotted stall space is W. O. Hicks with nine head, the property of various owners . . . The Hicks chargers are coming by fast choo-choo.

Less fortunate is the New England regular, Frank J. Kearns, who must van three nags over the highways. Some horsemen assert this is actually the best way to ship horses, permitting them to be taken from their stalls at regular intervals for limbering up exercises.

Another recent arrival is the J. Coleman trained outfit of the W-L Ranch . . . This is the nom de course of the Warner Brothers in California . . . And—take the word of the wiseacres for it if you will—every horse in the barn is READY. They're fresh, fit and on edge to win at the first asking.

Oodles of encouragement here after horsemen read Judge Dooley's statement regarding plans for the operation this Spring and Summer of Narragansett Park. Where gloom has previously been thick enough to cut, there is now a golden shaft of sunlight, and everyone seems to feel the horses will be holding forth at the same old Yankee stands throughout the coming year.

Much speculation here surrounds the appointment of a new steward at Suffolk Downs . . . They say Ed Brown, a newcomer from California, has the inside track, but there are many pulling for Norris Royden to cop the plum . . . Royden, a graduate of the third state, is doing yeoman service in the Fair Grounds stand and is well liked and capable. He's also a go-getter from the Narragansett official pagoda and bolsters my stand which he adorns . . . Needless to say, the best man possible is Tom Healy—but he'd be interested in nothing less than the presiding stewardship which, at the present moment, is not available. Nor is it telling tales out of school to reveal that Charles F. Adams would be delighted to have Healy associated with Suffolk if the opportunity arises to use his services.

New Englanders on the grounds are growing a bit weary of winter racing and casting longing glances northward, ears cocked for the bugle cry at Narragansett.

Landis Vetoes Florida Vacation

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, is passing up a Florida vacation for the first time in 23 years.

"The boys aren't going to do their training in the South, so why should I?" he explained today. "It wouldn't be settin' a good example. I'll freeze up here with the rest of 'em."

In So. Boston

Two locomotives meet head-on under South Boston's Broadway bridge today, injure one man, tie up three tracks . . . and wind up like this. Switching engine hauling 12 freight cars banged into a 49-car inbound freight from New Haven. Injured man is Ernest W. Bruze of Malden.

On Patrol

This Yankee soldier is patrolling a stretch near Grassy Knoll following his first taste of combat with the Japs. Soldiers en route to this area carried all their supplies through dense foliage (as here).
